Erode World Support

'Peace Feelers' Part of Reds Anti-U. S. Policy Campaign

Recent Vietnamese Communist propaganda suggests the possibility that "peace feelers" are part of a psychological campaign to erode American and world public support of U.S. policy in preparation for an upsurge of "political" warfare in South Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong's "Liberation Radio" couples a "we-can't-lose" propaganda campaign in South Viet Nam with highly exaggerated descriptions of various protest demonstrations around the world, and particularly in the United States.

In America, these broadcasts say, protests have risen to unprecedented intensity and have become "the most violent struggle in U.S. history," which has left the Johnson administration "extremely embarrassed and fearful."

Real Intention
Hints from North Viet Nam thus may have little to do with any real intention to negotiate on terms acceptable to the United States. Rather these "feelers" may be intended to add to the Johnson administration's troubles by placing it in the position of rejecting peace overtures.

This hypothesis becomes credible against the background of recent Viet Cong propaganda. This indicates Communist agents now can be expected to mount strong efforts to bring the war to the cities of South Viet Nam by means of political attack.

This would have a double purpose: first, to attack the Viet Cong's enemy from the rear and to make the U.S. presence politically untenable, and second, to persuade public opinion in America and elsewhere that the anti-Communist war effort has little South Vietnamese support.

Post-Crescent: Christmas Gift New Every Day
A subscription for one year, six months or three months to the Daily and Sunday Post-Crescent would be an ideal Christmas gift which would be appreciated 365 days of the year.

have expressed the opinion that a clear military decision is unlikely but that the war might be lost politically. The Communists indicate that they aim to step up their political efforts and coordinate them with military activities.

Time Is Near
The Liberation Radio propaganda says the time is near in South Viet Nam for a "three struggle movement" — armed, political and recruiting — in the South, to be "closely coordinated and create a continual offensive against the enemy on three sides so that he is attacked everywhere and can be led to collapse rapidly."

This broadcast added: "We are confident that the current situation practically offers us a very favorable opportunity to step up further our armed and political struggles, as well as military recruitment. These three movements must be carried out simultaneously."

Viet Cong propaganda claims control of four-fifths of South Viet Nam's territory with 10 million of the 14 million population. It concedes the Saigon government's control of the larger cities, so its emphasis there is on political attack.

In Saigon and other cities, say broadcast instructions, the movement is to reach a higher

McNamara Postpones Almost Half Military Construction for Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's slash of nearly half this year's military construction program foreshadows a new defense budget shorn of anything which cannot be justified by military necessity and the Viet Nam war.

McNamara signaled this Monday in saying that indefinite postponement of $620 million in construction of homes for service families, barracks and other like facilities is "symptomatic" of his approach to the new defense budget now being put together.

The Pentagon planned to announce today the list of deferred projects in 42 states, the District of Columbia and 18 overseas locations.

Other Projects
It also may announce another list of high-priority projects, totaling $685 million, which will go ahead in 36 states, the District, and 16 overseas sites.

Among the programs which may be put off because of the war-caused budget pinch are a start in production in the Nike X antimissile system and a proposed new atomic-powered aircraft carrier for the Navy.

Top officials believe there is no urgency to get under way in either of these projects. The Nike X could cost as much as $20 billion ultimately and the Navy carrier would come to $1 billion.

Police Kill Milwaukeean In Exchange

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One man was shot to death and two policemen were wounded critically in a blistering exchange of gunfire to face-to-face range in a South Side apartment bedroom today.

Killed by at least six shots from policemen's revolvers was Gary Lee, 25.

Patrolman Edward Wegner, 31, was taken to St. Francis Hospital and Officer Thomas Sbonik, 29, to County General. Both were in critical condition and both were being prepared for surgery.

Wegner suffered shotgun wounds in the left chest and arm. Sbonik was hit in the right arm and shoulder.

The Police Department said Lee had arrived home at his family's apartment above a soap and paper company about 6 a.m. and for some unknown reason fired a shotgun at his mother, Mrs. Ethel Lee, 60, who was washing dishes in the kitchen. The shot missed and struck a cabinet. Lee then turned the gun on his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Miller, 85, also missing.

Mrs. Lee ran outside, asked neighbors to seek police help and then locked herself in a bedroom.

Lee also locked herself in a bedroom as police arrived. When he refused to leave the room, Officers Wegner and Sbonik smashed down the door and were met by Lee's gunfire.

McNamara

that his department is eliminating or deferring everything that can possibly be sidetracked "without eating into the muscle" of U.S. armed might.

McNamara said that in addition to family housing and barracks the projects involved such facilities as additions to hospitals, bachelor officer quarters and modernization of training schools.

Wiped out were all 8,500 units of new housing for families of servicemen planned for this year. This accounted for $160 million of the $620 million being deferred.

The armed services have argued that improved family housing was one of the major steps needed to encourage trained and professional servicemen to remain on active duty rather than seeking better-paying jobs in civilian life.

Red Missiles Miss Mark As Air War Closes in On Red City of Haiphong

BY THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes brought the air war on North Viet Nam closer to Haiphong in the past 24 hours. A spokesman said they unleashed their bombs and rockets only 12 miles from the country's major port and paid a return call on the Uong Bi power station, which supplies electricity to Haiphong and Hanoi.

The Communists sent up several missiles against the U.S. Air Force and Navy planes but they missed their mark, the spokesman said. The American pilots spotted some MIG-17s over North Viet Nam, but the Communist jets did not attack the faster U.S. planes.

Air Force pilots made 52 assaults over the North, dropping 115 tons of 750-pound bombs and firing rockets and cannon as well.

Shot Down
Three fighter-bombers were shot down by ground fire, U.S. spokesmen reported, and only one of the pilots was rescued.

In the South, a big C-130 troop transport crashed near the Tuy Hoa air base on a resupply mission. Viet Cong ground fire drove off rescue helicopters, and it was not immediately known how many men were aboard.

U.S. infantrymen rescued two American construction men and a Vietnamese driver from Viet Cong kidnappers early today when the Communist unit stumbled into a GI ambush.

A fourth captive, a Dutchman, was killed by the Viet Cong before they fled into a forest alongside a road near Di An, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

Navy Aloft
Navy planes from the carrier Kitty Hawk went aloft at noon

today and bombed a major highway bridge just north of Haiphong in the deepest penetration yet of the Haiphong-Hanoi industrial complex. Spokesmen said they scored five direct hits.

Earlier, the Kitty Hawk's planes attacked the Uong Bi power station, 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, following up a raid last Wednesday by a flight of Air Force F-105 Thunderchiefs. The Air Force pilots claimed their strikes, the closest until then to Haiphong, knocked out the plant with bulls-eye hits, cutting off 25 per cent of Haiphong's power and a third of Hanoi's.

No Explanation
Spokesmen gave no immediate explanation for the return visit but said the Navy pilots reported unloading their bombs in the target area. Reconnaissance showed sections of Haiphong and Hanoi still without electricity, the spokesmen said.

An Air Force F-105 took a burst of ack-ack and crashed into the Gulf of Tonkin. The pilot, Capt. John S. Ruffo, 33, of Mount Morris, N.Y., was picked up.

Titan 3 Soars Into High Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A mighty Air Force Titan 3 rocket thundered into the sky today carrying four satellites toward an intended lofty orbit 21,000 miles above the equator.

Two of the satellites packed experimental communications gear, one will measure deadly solar radiation and one will be used by amateur radio operators around the world.

The 12-story-tall Titan 3, most powerful rocket now in use by the United States, blasted off on its third test flight at 9 a.m. (EST).

Two solid-fuel motors strapped to a liquid-fuel rocket core spewed a 500-foot tail of flame as the big booster tumbled aloft to begin one of the most complex unmanned space missions ever attempted.

Estimates of the dead in the clash in the country's second largest city ranged from 9 to 13. One of the victims was Col. Juan Maria Lora Fernandez, former chief of staff of the rebel forces.

Willing to Go Back

Chippewas Ask Return Of 2 Peace Corpsmen

RED CLIFF, Wis. (AP) — A Chippewa tribal council, at a special meeting Monday night, asked for the return of two of its domestic peace corps workers who were ordered out of the Red Cliff Indian Reservation last week.

However, the legality of the meeting was questioned today by council members Alex Gokee and Henry Bresette, who were not at the meeting. The two and their wives were principal opponents of the workers during their ten weeks on the reservation.

E. J. Riley, superintendent of the Bureau of Indian Affairs at Ashland, may accept or reject the minutes of the special session. Riley was not available for comment.

The five council members voted unanimously at the meeting attended by about 50 Indians and some members of a youth club, organized by the workers, Jill Hunt of Lewand, Ill., and Judy Rothman of St. Louis. They are members of the Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) and have said they would be willing to return if the Indians wanted them back.

The women were taken to Washington last Wednesday by Alfred Johnson, Great Lakes district liaison man for VISTA, who said they would be allowed to return if the tribal council voted for them.

Some Indians had complained that the workers had not set up programs which the community action committee had planned.

Council members said if the legality of Monday night's meeting were disputed, the matter would be brought up again at a regular meeting Jan. 3.

Children of Fire Victims Get Toys

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP) — Two Michigan men brought a truckload of toys to Keokuk Monday for children of victims who were burned in a Thanksgiving eve explosion and fire that destroyed the National Guard Armory here.

The death toll stood at 21 Monday when two more of the critically injured died in Keokuk hospitals.

Gary Glazier and Laverne Lietzke of St. John, Mich., drove here with toys from a Lansing, Mich., toy manufacturer and $50 donated for the Swing-Ezy Disaster Benefit Fund. The money donation was arranged by Dick Kenyon, a square-dance caller from Lansing.

The explosion occurred while members of the Swing-Ezy Club were holding a square dance.

Jacob Sculezewski Death Leaves Family Alone

5 Seymour Children Facing Future Without Parents, Close Relatives

SEYMOUR — When Jacob Sculezewski, 54, left his family at Thanksgiving and went into a Green Bay hospital for the final time, his instructions to his eldest son, Lynn, 17, were that he was to head the family and the family must stay together.

Today Lynn plans to carry out that instruction even though his father, suffering a multiple of incurable diseases, died Monday at the hospital shortly after viewing his family for the last time.

In the well-maintained farm home at route 1, Seymour, Lynn and his sisters, Janet, 15, Lois, 13, and the twins, Arlene and Marlene, 10, prepare to face a bleak future still determined that the family will stay together.

Quit School
Lynn, a quiet boy, described by some as a "bright and clever boy," dropped from high school to devote full time to running the house, the family and the farm. His four sisters, attend school each day and will do so until further plans are made.

The children have been motherless since 1958 when Mrs. Sculezewski died while the twin girls were yet babies. At the time, the family lived in Appleton where the father worked as a lens grinder for an optical firm.

When ill health forced him to leave Appleton, he bought the farm where he raised his children until ill health forced him to leave that responsibility to his eldest son.

Mrs. Edward Peotter, wife of the Town of Osborn chairman, said help in the form of clothing, food and some money have been raised for the family since last weekend when newspaper stories told of the family's plight. She said, however, that more help is needed.

Mrs. Peotter said efforts are being made to carry out the father's wishes and keep the family together. She and her husband will confer with an attorney to settle legal questions which will guide the family's future.

No Relatives
There are no close relatives in the Fox River Valley to which the family can turn, Mrs. Peotter said. A family friend in Appleton has helped periodically, she said and an aunt in Milwaukee has been informed of the father's death.

Mrs. Peotter said Lynn has maintained that the family "is doing well" under the circumstances. She said he has asked for little or no help from outsiders.

Asks for Nothing
"The boy has been brought up not to ask for something from others," she said. She said that

Perch-Eye View of Winter

It's the Season of Predictions

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

If you want to know what winter holds—it comes tonight—just ask a caterpillar or a perch, look at the moon or consult the almanac. You'll get a different answer every time.

If caterpillars speak your language, it'll be a run-of-the-mill winter. The perches say it will be mild at first—so does the moon, although the rockets kind of get in the way.

But the fog-counters, volcano-readers and the almanacs predict a bitter time of it with more darkness will have fallen on than enough snow to keep eventhe hardest of skiers happy. When winter comes schussing in tonight it's likely to find more pine needles than snow on the ground. But, those resorts where snow has fallen are packing them in.

Official Time
In Miami, at resorts of a different sort, vacationers are hoping to get brown under the sun—while their winterbound neighbors turn green with envy and blue from the cold.

Winter comes officially at 8:41 p.m. (EST) today, hours after darkness will have fallen on the day of the year with the least amount of daylight. If it's any compensation, Venus will attain her greatest brilliance.

Ski lodges are going great in Colorado, New Mexico, upper New England and California—where some winters the resorts never open for lack of snow. In other places, the bare ground isn't luring many skiers.

In the weather predicting business there are as many ways of arriving at the wrong conclusion as there are snowflakes in a blizzard.

Farmer's Almanac
The Old Farmer's Almanac predicts 31 inches of snow for

More Students Eligible For College Aid Grants

BY SYLVIA PORTER
What does it take to get a college scholarship? How needy must a student's family be? What factors, in addition to academic standing, boost a student's chances for a scholarship today?

This year one-tenth of U.S. college students — about 500,000 — are receiving more than $200 million in scholarships to help finance their higher education. At a limited but growing number of colleges more than half of the student body is getting some type of financial assistance. Beginning next fall another 140,000 needy students will go to college with the help of an additional $58 million of federal scholarships under the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Today college scholarships

are multiplying as unprecedented college costs have quintupled, and during the coming 10 years costs are slated to rise another 50 per cent. Clearly the competition for scholarships will become even more fierce than it is today.

In this and the next two columns, therefore, you'll find answers to key questions on scholarships.

Generally speaking a high school student today must graduate with at least a B average and rank at least in the top half of his class simply to get into a good four-year college. The requirements are understandably tougher for scholarships. While a growing total of colleges will admit highly qualified students regardless of financial means and automatically extend

How needy must the student's family be?

The gifted child of the very needy (in the $3,000-$4,000 or less annual income range) has the best chances for most scholarships. The new federal scholarships are reserved exclusively for those who couldn't otherwise attend college.

But a rising sum of aid is also now available to students whose family income is as high as $15,000 a year — if the family has other children to support at home or in college at the same time, if the family has other burdensome expenses, or if college costs are especially high at the institution the child wishes to attend.

Who Is Needy?

For instance, a family with four children to support on a yearly income of $5,000 is considered by today's colleges

Individual's Fear of Death Can be Changed

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: How does a person overcome fear of death? My husband's fear of it began with palpitations of the heart which he said started about 10 years ago. The doctor's checkup showed there is nothing wrong, only that he has a nervous condition. The nerve pills he lakes don't seem to stop the palpitation. He gets it frequently. Would you advise him to see a heart specialist, a psychiatrist or ask his doctor for stronger nerve pills? — Mrs. A. B.

Every doctor encounters this problem from time to time. Some people need help; others don't. The fear of death can be overcome, and I will have more to say about it tomorrow. Perhaps it will help Mrs. A.B.'s husband. I think it may.

More specifically for him, however, are these suggestions. Any trouble — or supposed trouble — concerning the heart can cause anxiety. The anxiety in turn can aggravate the heart situation. It becomes a vicious circle, and the circle needs to be broken somewhere. The more he worries, the more his heart flutters; the more it flutters, the more he worries.

Where to break the circle? For one thing the doctor has assured him that his heart is healthy, but he refuses to accept this report. Yet he has had palpitation for 10 years now, and nothing has happened. It is about time, for his own peace of mind, that he decide that the doctor knew what he was talking about!

No, I would not suggest asking for "stronger nerve pills." Such sedatives often are helpful in calming the overly tense person, but if the nervous spells persist (and as a result, the palpitation) more or strong sedatives will not necessarily be the answer.

Seeing a heart specialist may help reassure him—but if he wouldn't believe the first doctor, in spite of the evidence of 10 years of continued life, why expect him to believe another? Rather, it would seem to make much more sense to see a psychiatrist, and track down the deep-buried tensions or anxieties which manifest themselves in this fear of death.

Finally, and this could prove to be important, various factors can influence both his anxieties and the palpitation. Thyroid activity should be checked. Blood pressure, too. What are his habits as to smoking, drinking, eating? Does he get adequate rest and exercise? Is he interested in theater, cards, clubs, hobbies? Or has he let himself become so engrossed in his fear of death that he feeds his fear by thinking of nothing else? What are conditions, as they may affect his nerves, at home or in his work?

Only he, in the last analysis, can free himself from fear of death, but expert help can make the task easier.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have so much trouble with callus or dead skin around my finger-nails. I do not do hard work, so that can't be the cause.— Mrs. C. W.

If I gather what you mean correctly, you refer to the small ridge of thickened skin at the edge of the nail, chiefly at base of the nail. This tends to cling to the nail as it grows out. The skin also can then split and be painful.

The best answer is, after a bath or soaking of the hands in warm water, to push this skin

Actress to Escape Traditional Christmas With Ex-Family in Israel

LONDON (AP) — To escape the traditional English Christmas, Chinese-born actress Tsai Chin has gone to Israel to spend the holidays with her former husband and his present wife.

Leaving London airport Sunday night she said: "I've spent the last eight Christmases in London, but this year I'm getting away. They're too commercial. So commercial, in fact, that I couldn't stand another one."

She said she planned to spend back with an orange wood stick. Surplus segments of skin can be carefully trimmed away with manicure scissors. Skin oils or hand lotion will help keep the skin soft.

FVL Quint Invades Chuters' Floor for Wednesday Game

St. John Holds 4-2 Edge in Intra-Fox Cities Rivalry

BY TIM PETERMANN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Two Fox Cities non-conference opponents will tangle at 8 p.m. Wednesday when Fox Valley Lutheran High School and Little Chute, St. John meet in the Chuters' gymnasium.

Fox Lutheran, of the Midwest Prep Conference, and St. John, of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference, have developed a keen rivalry over the past several years. The Dutchmen hold the edge in the series, having won four of the six games since it began in 1959.

In last season's game, St. John featured a balance scoring attack and a good ball control type game to beat the Foxes, 67-54.

Things are slightly reversed from last year's tilt when the Foxes went into the game with a 4-1 record and four lettermen, while St. John had a 3-4 mark and seven lettermen including one of the top FVCC scorers in Bruce Hammen.

Have 4 Lettermen

This season, the Foxes enter the game with four lettermen and a 3-2 record while the Chuters have only one returning lettermen and 2-5 season mark. FVL also has one of the MPC's leading scorers in Mark Dahke.

Both teams were rated cellar-dwellers in their respective conferences, but each has done something surprising in the

The Oshkosh and Appleton High School basketball teams will meet tonight in the AHS gym for a chance to remain in tight contention for 1965-66 championship honors.

The Indians and the Terrors, ranked second and third, respectively, in pre-season speculation, already have absorbed two losses apiece to fall a pair of games behind unbeaten Green Bay West and Sheboygan South. A third loss for either one this early in the campaign would make the title road ahead mighty steep.

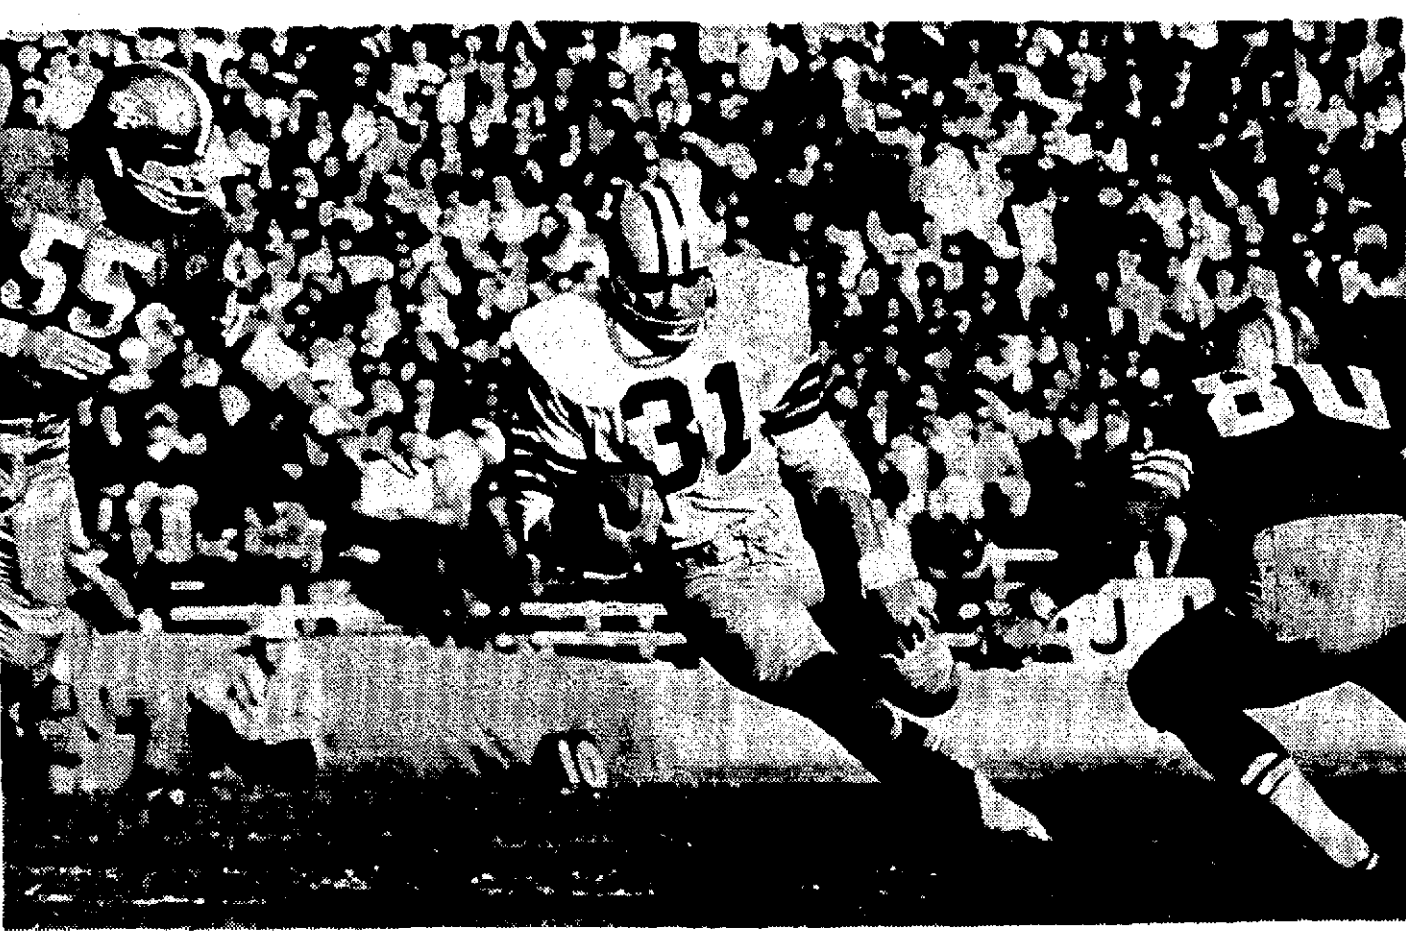

Last season's Terror title-winning team swept its series from Oshkosh, 63-53 and 80-61. The 1963-4 AHS championship unit split with the Indians. Thus, the Dick Emanuel-coached Terrors have taken three of their last four from the Don Erickson-directed Indians.

Fast Scoring Pace

OHS' two returning regulars, Bruce Erickson and Greg Seibold, are off to a fast scoring pace. The 6-3 Seibold is averaging 18.8 points a game, while the 5-8 Erickson is averaging 17. Jim Englund (6-1), gives the Indians a third scorer in double figures, with a 10.4 average.

The only Terror in double figures to date is Pat Garvey, with a 15-point average. AHS front-liners have started to live up to their scoring potential. In the most recent game, Jon Griffith hit 12 points, while Dennis Vaubel and George Hoffman scored 10 apiece.

AHS, which has lost to West and South, is averaging 62.6 points a game, while allowing only 55.8. The Indians have a better offensive average (68.2), but are allowing 82.2, on the average. OHS has lost to Fond du Lac and Manitowoc.

MADISON (AP)—An arching, full-court pass gave Wisconsin the clinching bucket for a 76-72 basketball victory over Montana Monday night after erratic passing at short range had dissipated a 10-point lead.

Wisconsin had a two-point edge with nine seconds left when Dave Roberts took the ball out of bounds after two Montana free throws, sighted Ken Gustafson unguarded at the opposite end of the court, and hurled a long, looping pass to him for an easy layup and the Badgers' second victory in seven tries this season.

Roberts, who came off the bench as a reserve, hit four of five free throws, including a foul shot that had given the

Packers Respect Matte's Ability

Brown, Haffner Out of Playoff Tilt

BY GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tom Matte, carrying a list of plays on a wristband for easy reference, will quarterback the Baltimore Colts in their decisive game against the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

The plastic-covered "peep sheet," suggested by Baltimore Coach Don Shula, was used by Matte last Saturday when he started his first National Football League game at quarterback and helped direct a 20-17 upset victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Matte, a converted halfback, was guaranteed the starting job in Sunday's playoff for the Western Conference title when NFL owners declined Monday to make quarterbacks Ed Brown and George Haffner eligible for the Green Bay contest. The winner will play Eastern Conference champion Cleveland for the NFL title on Jan. 2.

"At least I know where I stand now," all alone," Matte said. "But I can't have any more pressure on me than I

Wood, Adderly, Davis Picked Three Rookies Named To Western All-Pro Unit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Chicago Bears' sensational halfback, Gale Sayers, and two other rookies were named Monday to the West team which will meet the eastern all-stars in the annual National Football League Pro Bowl game here Jan. 16.

The other rookies selected by the NFL coaches were linebacker Dick Butkus of the Bears and fullback Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers.

Quarterbacks selected were the 49ers' John Brodie and either Bart Starr of Green Bay or Fran Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings. The selection of the second quarterback will depend on the outcome of the Western Conference championship, with Starr to play if the Packers defeat Baltimore Sunday.

34 on Each Squad

There are 34 on each squad. Green Bay, Minnesota and Los Angeles each placed four men on the team. San Francisco and Detroit placed six on the team while Baltimore and Chicago placed five.

Named from the Green Bay defensive platoon were all-NFL end Willie Davis, all-NFL safety Willie Wood, and back Herb Adderly, a 1963 all-NFL choice.

Willard and Bill Brown of Minnesota were named at fullback, with the Packers' Jim Taylor left off the squad. Taylor, suffering a series of injuries, has been held below 1,000 yards rushing this season for the first time in six years.

Can be Fullback or Halfback, Vince Says

Grabowski Anxious to Compete for Job

BY DAN MC NULTY

CHICAGO (AP) — Can a young athlete who was forward enough to break Red Grange's college rushing records beat out Jim Taylor or Paul Hornung for a starting berth in the Green Bay Packers' backfield in his first year in the National Football League?

That's what everyone was asking Jim Grabowski Monday after the Packers announced they had signed the University of Illinois fullback to a three-year contract.

Grabowski wouldn't predict whether he'll nudge Hornung or Taylor out of the starting lineup next year but Packer Coach Vince Lombardi said anything is possible.

"I think I'll learn a lot from them," Grabowski said of Taylor and Hornung. But he added, "I'll do my best to break into the starting line-up."

Fine Rushing Back

"He's a real fine rushing back," said Lombardi, adding: "A good rushing back definitely can become a starter as a rookie in the National Football League."

Neither Lombardi nor Grabowski would reveal terms of the three-year contract but scout-butts has it Grabowski will receive $50,000 a year plus a $100,000 bonus.

Lombardi was full of praise for the Packers' No. 1 draft pick.

"We're real happy to have him," he said.

Lombardi feels the Illini All-America has the heft to grind out the yardage in the tough NFL. He said he expects Grabowski to add another 10 pounds to his 215-pound frame.

Grabowski broke 16 rushing marks at Illinois, including four Big Ten records.

His conference records include most yards rushing in a season, 906; three-year career rushing total of 2,106 yards; three-year total yards, 2,878; and a single-game rushing record of 239 yards against Wisconsin as a junior. The last mark was two yards better than Grange's best performance, as a collegian at Illinois.

Ideal Running Back

"I think Grabowski will help us tremendously," said Lombardi. "Jim's an ideal running back."

"He can play either fullback or halfback. He's got good height, good size and good speed. He's got enough speed to run outside and he's strong

Says Frozen Ground Takes Away From Individual Skills

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Brown prefers Baltimore's weather and seating capacity to Green Bay's but insists the Cleveland Browns don't care whether they play the Colts or Packers in the Jan. 2 NFL title game.

his touchdown race with rookie Gale Sayers of Chicago, Brown shook his head.
"Those things blend into a whole season," he said. "You might lose one by having the play called back and he might lose one the same way. I would have liked to have played the whole game."
Brown wound up with 21 touchdowns to 22 by Sayers, who also received a special rookie award from a manufacturer.

Mantle Will Receive First Hutch Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle has been named winner of the first Hutch Award, it was announced today.

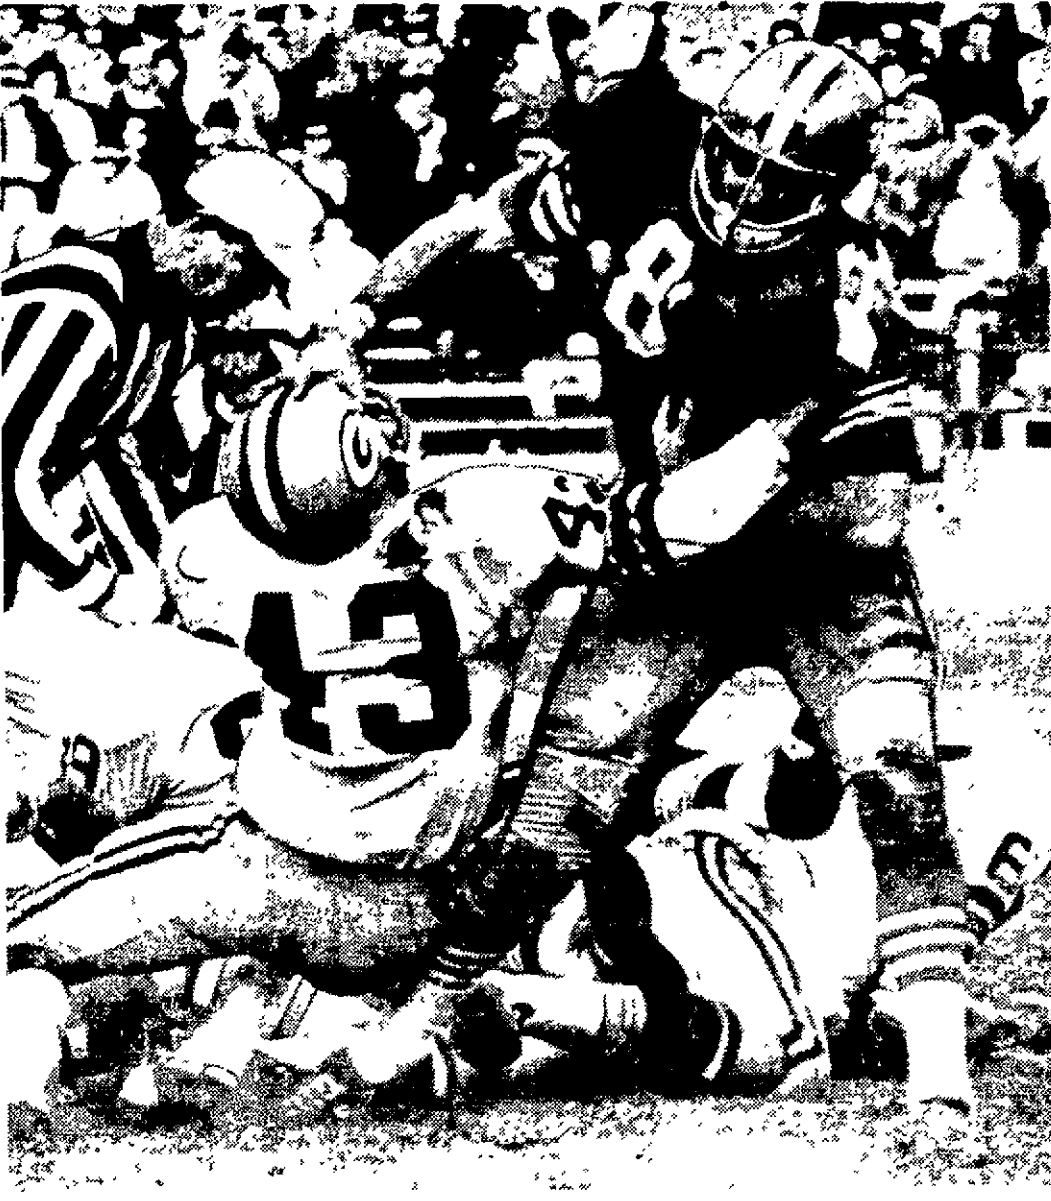

The voting, by major league broadcasters and baseball writers, was based on "the player who best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire of the late Fred Hutchinson."

Hutchinson, former American League pitching star and manager of the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds, died of cancer Nov. 12, 1964.

Mantle will receive his trophy at the annual dinner of the New York Baseball Writers chapter next Jan. 30.

In conjunction with the award voted, the longtime New York Yankee stand-out, an annual $1,000 scholarship will go to a student or researcher engaged in projects seeking new knowledge of cancer. This will be made available by the sponsoring Fred Hutchinson Cancer Scholarship Fund.

Mantle compiled 340 points in the voting to finish ahead of Pittsburgh's comeback pitcher, Vernon Law. The veteran right hander tallied 290 points, one more than Pete Rose, Cincinnati second baseman. Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants was fourth with 277 points.

San Francisco 49ers end Dave Parks demonstrates how tough it is to bring him down against the Green Bay Packers Sunday in Kezar Stadium. Green Bay's Doug Hart (43) appears to have Parks almost undressed after he caught a pass from John Brodie. Parks had already shucked off two Packers. Parks nabbed nine passes for 149 yards as the 49ers and Packers battled to a 24-24 tie, necessitating a playoff between the Bays and Baltimore next Sunday in Green Bay for the Western Division title. (AP Wirephoto)

Seek Possible $96 Million Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League outlined plans for a possible independent television venture at an informal meeting of NFL club owners Monday.

Rozelle said the club representatives expressed "considerable interest" in his recent studies of the feasibility of dealing with outside interests should the league be unable to negotiate a new television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System or another major network.

The current two-year NFL-CBS contract, at $14.1 million per year, expires next month. The New York Times reported Sunday that the league is seeking a $96 million four-year pact—more than $20 million more than the network's offer.

Continue Negotiations
Rozelle said he was hopeful the television situation would be resolved "in a couple of weeks at most" and pointed out that the NFL is continuing to negotiate with the networks.

The alternate plan would be to sell the NFL's TV rights to another organization, i.e. a sponsor, talent agency or one of the independent sports networks, which in turn would arrange to carry the games.

Rozelle, who is empowered to sign a new contract himself, said, "We are going to get more than under the present contract."

He said the league is seeking considerations, aside from money, including exposure during prime night time television and maximum color coverage.

Future in Television
"The future of sports is in television at night," he said, citing the increase in night baseball coverage. He said the NFL is considering scheduling a few pre-season and regular-season games on Monday nights and conceivably would lower its money demands if it was assured of prime television time.

The owners met with Rozelle for 5½ hours but took no formal action. Among other matters discussed was the possibility of modifying the current practice of television blackouts in cities where games are being played.

Colts Get OK to Prepare Tickets

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts were given permission by the National Football League Monday to prepare tickets for a possible championship game here Jan. 2.

The winner of the Western Conference playoff Sunday between Baltimore and Green Bay will play Eastern Conference champion Cleveland for the NFL title.

If the Colts beat the Packers, tickets for the title game will go on sale to season ticketholders next Monday.

The remainder, exclusive of the Browns' allotment, will go on sale to the general public beginning Thursday, Dec. 30.

49ers' Treatment of Ole Miss Star Influenced Hindman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The treatment they gave a star University of Mississippi fullback in 1962 helped the San Francisco 49ers sign their No. 1 draft choice of 1965.

Stan Hindman, the Mississippi guard who signed with the San Francisco 49ers last Saturday, was asked Monday why he chose the National Football League team. Houston of the American Football League had tabbed him their No. 2 choice.

"The 49ers have a good reputation and I remembered that Billy Ray Adams received a bonus and got to keep it even though he didn't sign because of that automobile accident," Hindman said at the start of his press conference.

Adams was the No. 3 choice of the 49ers after the 1961 season but shortly afterward suffered a leg injury in the accident and never could play professional football.

Hindman added that he believes the NFL more stable with more experienced personnel than the rival league, adding, "I feel I'll be playing the best football in the world if I make it."

Hindman stands 6-feet 3-inches and weighs 228. Although some consider this somewhat light for a pro lineman, Waldorf declared, "We're not worried. He has unusual agility and will be able to play any place that Chris (Coach Hack Christian) wants to use him."

Providence, Wichita Upset

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
UCLA's defending national champions, victims of the latest College Bkt Rdp-Poll shuffle in college basketball's power struggle, can expect company before the next accounting.

No sooner had the weekly ratings been adjusted Monday night, with Duke clinging to the No. 1 spot and UCLA off the roll for the first time in three years, than pot shots knocked off two more members of the Top Ten.

Houston, paced by sophomore Elvin Hayes, surprised Providence. No. 7 in The Associated Press poll, 102-89 while Southern Illinois went on a 24-1 spurt in the second half and started eighth-ranked Wichita 89-68.

There'll be at least one more loser among the elite teams after tonight's action. The top-ranked Blue Devils meet No. 3 Michigan at Detroit and second-ranked St. Joseph's of Philadelphia has a tough road assignment at Brigham Young.

No. 6 Minnesota, only other Top Ten club scheduled Monday night, outlasted scrappy Detroit 92-88 behind a 36-point spree by Archie Clark for its fifth victory without a loss.

Visits Bradley
Fourth-ranked Vanderbilt entertains California Santa Barbara and Montana visits No. 5 Bradley tonight in other games involving the top clubs.

Providence, which had won its first five starts, couldn't cope with Houston's height advantage on the Cougars' court. The 6-foot-9 Hayes did the heaviest damage with 33 points and led a 20-8 spurt early in the second half that shot Houston ahead to stay 72-63. The Cougars out-rebounded Providence 22-4 during the decisive rally.

At Carbondale, Ill., Southern Illinois turned a 47-42 deficit into a commanding 66-48 bulge by reeling off 13 and 11 points in succession around a single free throw by Wichita. Boyd O'Neal and Clarence Smith each scored six points and George McNeil four in the SIU spurt.

O'Neal topped Southern Illinois, the nation's No. 3 small-college team, with 22 points and 15 rebounds. The Shockers, who were unbeaten in four previous games, lost the battle of the boards 68-37.

Hits 15 for 25
Minnesota's Clark, taking over the scoring slack for Lou Hudson, who sat out the game with an injured hand, shot 15 for 25 from the field as the Gophers built a 17-point margin with four minutes to go and held on. Dorie Murray of Detroit tied the school record with 44 points and hauled in 34 rebounds, seven more than the Minnesota team.

Duke, which whipped UCLA twice two weeks ago and improved its record to 6-1 with a come-from-behind victory over Virginia last Saturday, received 28 of 40 first-place votes in The AP poll of sportswriters and broadcasters. UCLA, which slipped to 3-3 when beaten by Cincinnati, fell out of the Top

'Golden Opportunity' for John

Patriots Get Huarte To Back Up Parilli

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots hoped today that any quarterback problem of the future was settled with the acquisition of former All-American John Huarte to back up aging Babe Parilli.

The 22-year-old Huarte, who commanded a price tag of $200,000 after winning the Heisman Trophy in 1964, was obtained Monday in an American Football League deal which sent veteran pass receiver Jimmy Colclough to the New York Jets.

The Patriots also gave up their No. 4 draft choice in the AFL draft last month. In addition, they reportedly will pay the Jets $50,000 if Huarte sticks next season.

After leading Notre Dame to a 9-1 record last year, Huarte signed with the Jets. However, he didn't see a minute of AFL action.

Huarte spent the first three weeks of New York's preseason training with the College All-Stars, starring in the annual game against Cleveland of the National Football League.

The Jets' other high priced rookie, Joe (840,000) Namath, proceeded to nail down the No. 1 quarterback job and Huarte was relegated to the taxi squad. Namath went on to win AFL Rookie of the Year honors while Huarte manned a rooftop phone during games.

"I guess I've played less than 30 minutes of pro football—and that was in three exhibitions with the Jets," Huarte said.

"I regard coming to Boston as a golden opportunity, but I don't expect to become first string quarterback for the Patriots next year unless something happens to Babe Parilli," Huarte said. "Parilli is one of the best in the business."

"I'm confident that after studying him in action and talking over every game with him, I'll be fitted to take over two or three years from now."

The 35-year-old Parilli had his troubles as injuries wrecked the Patriots' attack early this year. However, he rebounded and directed the club to three straight closing victories.

Boston Coach Mike Holovak went out on a limb in midseason and said that Parilli, barring injury, would be his No. 1 quarterback in 1966.

Asked about Huarte's chances of sticking with the team, Holovak said "I don't believe in giving a fellow a job. He's got to earn it."

Badgers a 74-69 command before Montana closed in.

Roberts Won It
"Roberts really won this one for us," said Wisconsin Coach John Erickson. "He made one important free throw that gave us a five-point spread and then came through with the long pass. You can't beat experience, and he's a senior."

Gustafson led the scoring with 24 points, sinking 11 of 16 tries from the floor.

The Badgers, as a team, shot 48.5 per cent to offset slipshod ballhandling that allowed Montana 13 more field goal attempts and heavy-handed defensive play that provided the Grizzlies with a 14-point advantage at the free throw line.

The Badgers had 21 ball turnovers without getting a shot off. Three of the errors were committed by Dennis Sweeney who threw away passes while Wisconsin was trying to protect a 73-63 lead with 2:32 left.

The stall may have failed because of inexperience. "This was our first chance this season to try and hold a lead at the end," said Erickson. "We've been fighting to catch up in almost every game."

Montana, with a 2-4 record now to Wisconsin's 2-5, ran off six points at the start of the game before the Badgers could get their first basket on a jump shot by Ken Barnes with 2:14 minutes gone. Wisconsin recovered to surge to a 39-32 halftime lead, but Montana quickly trimmed it to 41-39 after the intermission.

Cans Five of Six
Gustafson canned five of the Badgers' next six field goals as Wisconsin spurred ahead 54-44. The 10-point lead dwindled to 61-58 before reserve pivotman Tom Schoeneck hit two hook shots and Sweeney added a fast break basket.

Fouling hurt the Badgers again as Montana capitalized on three free throws to whittle away the 74-69 lead before Roberts' pass to Gustafson. Better accuracy at the foul line by the Grizzlies, who hit 24 tosses, might have given them the game despite an 18-point deficit from the floor.

The Grizzlies managed to net only a poor 29.6 per cent of their floor shots and only an adequate 70.6 per cent of their free throws.

Gustafson was backed by Barnes with 14 points and Mark Zubor with 12 while sophomore standout Joe Franklin was limited to a lone field goal. The balanced Montana attack had eight players spread between 7 and 11 points.

Wisconsin will invade Cincinnati Wednesday night and Erickson indicated the Badgers may need more offensive potency than displayed against Montana. But he added, "It's good to win and it's particularly satisfying after you've lost four in a row."

Ed Brown Won't Play Against Bays

had last week, so what difference does it make?"

Pressure on Boyd

"I guess the pressure will be on Bobby Boyd," Matte said. "He'll have to learn what to do in case I get hurt."

Boyd, like Matte, was a quarterback in college — Boyd at Oklahoma and Matte at Ohio State. Boyd, a defensive halfback, has never played the position in the NFL and Matte didn't until Dec. 12 when substitute Gary Cuzzo followed No. 1 quarterback John Unitas to the sidelines with an injury which required surgery.

Matte, an NFL halfback for five seasons, used his running ability to advantage against the Rams and was the game's leading ground gainer with 99 yards rushing.

Brown, acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, tossed one touchdown pass against the Rams while Halfner warmed the bench after being activated from the Colts' taxi squad.

Since they were not on the Baltimore roster for the final two regular season games, Brown and Halfner were not eligible for the playoff. Colts' President Carroll Rosenbloom tried unsuccessfully to have the league rule waived.

No Indication

There was no indication who opposed Baltimore's request, but Matte said he would have objected, too, if he had been voted for either Cleveland or Green Bay.

"I didn't think the request would go through," he said. "I guess they would rather play against somebody like me."

With another week of practice to sharpen his timing and accuracy, Matte figures to pass more than the two aerials he tried last Saturday.

Shula probably will call the plays from the sidelines, and if Matte gets in a jam he can look at the crib note on his wrist.

"If I'm grasping for something to do, I can take a peek," Matte said. "Even if the Packers see the list, it won't help them. They already know our plays... but they still have to guess which one is coming next."

Mays to Rest After Collapse

Nervousness and Exhaustion Cited By Physician

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Willie Mays has quit promoting the Job Corps for the sake of his baseball career. His third collapse in three years forced the decision.

Willie explained: "The doctor here said I was a little nervous from running around all over the country."

Mays, 34, highest-paid player in baseball ($105,000) and the National League's Most Valuable Player, fell in a faint Saturday while promoting the Job Corps at a downtown theater.

Backstage hands ran to help him. They sat him in a chair. And somebody called a police ambulance. But Mays walked from the theater and rode in a police car to the Salt Lake City home of Herman Franks, manager of the San Francisco Giants.

"Just Blacked Out"
"I guess he just blacked out," said Franks. "All the heat and the kids."

"Don't worry about him," Franks said, and added that his star center fielder would be in "good shape" by spring.

"I'm fine," said Willie. "The doctor said I should get lots of rest. He gave me a couple of shots and some pills and said in a couple of days I should be back to feeling really good."

Willie collapsed in 1962 sitting in a dugout, and doctors blamed it on indigestion. Then he fell to one knee because of dizziness at Candlestick Park in 1963. Doctors blamed exhaustion.

Dr. Robert Dalrymple, who examined him Saturday, said exhaustion was the culprit again.

of Omro, Kimberly, Oshkosh Lourdes, and Fond du Lac Springs. Three of the four losses have been by two or three points.

In addition to its wins over Milwaukee Lutheran and University School, FVL trounced Lakeside Lutheran. The two losses were at the hands of Concordia and Wisconsin Lutheran by margins of four and six points.

Although the FVL record looks better on paper, St. John has been averaging 64.7 points a game to the Foxes' 60.6. However St. John has been allowing an average of 73.1 a game, while FVL has been holding its opponents to 54.2 a tilt.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick, of the Dutchmen, will probably go with his regular starting lineup of Gary Romensko and Tim Hartjes at guards, Lloyd Hackel, 6-2, at center and Ed Schuler, 5-10 and Jerry Janssen, 6-0, at forwards. Dave Hammen and Tom Felzer are slated to see early reserve action for the Chuters.

The Gerhard Kaniess-coached Foxes will be going with the same lineup that has proved successful so far. It will include Mark Dahlke, 6-1 senior; Tom Ehlke, 6-2 senior, Dave Tiedt, 6-1 junior; Alan Olson, 6-1 senior, and Dennis Neumann, 6-2 senior or Howie Korth, a 5-7 junior.

Fox Lutheran JVs Suffer 47-31 Loss

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School junior varsity suffered its second Midwest Prep Conference basketball defeat in four starts Saturday night, as it bowed to Wisconsin Lutheran, 47-31.

FVL jumped off to an early lead and kept it through the first quarter, leading, 13-8, at the end of the period. In the second quarter Wisconsin Lutheran went ahead, 25-15, a lead from which the Junior Foxes never recovered.

FVL's Tim Johnson led all scorers as he poured in 20 points.

er picked in the rival American League draft. Miami chose him, failed to net him and gave the New York Jets opportunity for an eleventh-hour try that was also unsuccessful.

Near My Home

"I chose the Packers," Grabowski explained, "because I live in Chicago and I wanted to play somewhere near my home."

"Green Bay's going to win the championship this season and a number of championships in the years to come. I want to be on a championship team and I want to play for the finest coach in the world, Vince Lombardi."

Lombardi said, "Grabowski is bigger than (Jim) Taylor. He weighs around 215 now and should go up to 225. He's got all his growing days ahead of him."

"I consider it an honor to compete for a job against such great runners as Taylor and Paul Hornung," said Grabowski. "I'll probably learn a lot from them. I hope to get in and play a little bit next season."

Lombardi said, "Running backs don't take time to make adjustments to pro ball. A good running back can make a pro club during his first year."

Important Step

"This was the most important step in my life. I wanted to weigh both proposals and make sure I made the right choice. Now, I'm sure I did," said Grabowski.

Grabowski recently discussed his pro future with his former teammate at Illinois, Dick Butkus, now a Chicago Bears linebacker.

"I talked to Dick about two weeks ago," said Grabowski. "We had lunch together. He told me all about pro ball. But he never gave me any advice about which league to sign with."

Jordan Says Tom Matte Is Dangerous QB

Colts at Baltimore in a showdown for first place two weeks ago.

Coach Vince Lombardi said then the Packers were at their psychological peak and there may be a question whether the team can reach the same readiness.

"At this stage it's not the physical things, but mostly mental," said Jordan, a 250-pound, nine-year veteran from the University of Virginia.

"We might have been a little too high last Sunday in San Francisco," he added. "Everything we did, it seemed nothing clicked. We may have been trying too hard."

Converted Running Back

With Matte, a converted running back who has thrown only sparingly, at the reins of the Colts, Jordan said the Packer defense will probably concentrate on a containment policy, such as used against Minnesota's scrambling quarterback, Fran Tarkenton.

The San Francisco tie left the Packers with a 10-3-1 record identical to that of Baltimore. Despite their two victories over the Colts, the Packers lost during the season to Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles.

"It looks like everyone is trying to give us the championship, but we keep throwing it away," Jordan said.

He saw one advantage in the playoff to determine which team will be host to Eastern Conference titlist Cleveland in the NFL championship game Jan. 2.

"This playoff will help whoever wins, Green Bay or Baltimore. A week layoff. I think, hurts you. You get out of the habit of hitting."

Walsh, Dodgers' Secretary, Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rosary will be recited tonight for Henry J. Walsh Jr., secretary and director of the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team, who died Sunday night of a circulatory ailment.

Walsh, 52, brother-in-law of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, had been with the team for 15 years.

Walsh was once secretary to Chief Judge Albert Conway of the New York Court of Appeals and later was secretary to the New York Board of Law Examiners.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke

One of the best reasons to encourage youngsters to participate in sports came to our attention recently... It's one of the finest statements we ever saw, and we wanted to pass it along to you... This statement was credited to Mickey Mantle, who said: "...A team is where a boy can prove his courage, on his own, on what he can do himself, or on what he can contribute to the team's good. A gang is where a coward goes to hide..." The difference between a team and a gang was never explained better than that.

What was the longest fight on record?... Most boxing records show that the longest glove fight ever was between Andy Bowen and Jack Burke in New Orleans in 1893... Their bout lasted 110 rounds, or 7 hours and 19 minutes!... It ended as a draw when neither man could continue.

Did you know that a touchdown in football was not always worth six points?... Back at the turn of the century, a TD counted for only five... Touchdowns were worth six points till 1912.

We now stock the Arrow Vivilia Shirts in plain colors and plaids.

Gilmer Plans Early Drills Next Summer

Blames Late Start As 'Major Factor' In 6th Place Finish

DETROIT (AP)—Coach Harry Gilmer has decided on one major change in Detroit Lions' strategy for the 1966 National Football League season.

The Lions are going to start work earlier in the summer. There won't be another "late start" in July, says Gilmer.

The Lions' mentor, in a relaxed mood, discussed his "disappointing" first season on the job Monday while indicating confidence that 1966 would be a big improvement.

Detroit's last finish against the Philadelphia Eagles, a 35-28 victory in which the Lions displayed perhaps their best offensive of the year — had cheered Gilmer.

"I'd like to go back to training camp right away," he said.

Major Factor

Gilmer labeled as a "mistake" the Lions' July training start this year. He called it a possible "major factor" in the team's lack of success, a sixth place Western Division finish at 6-7-1.

Coincidentally with Gilmer's better feelings came the signing of Auburn star John Pincavage, 10th of the new collegian crop to come to terms for 1966 and the third from Auburn.

Pincavage, who set pass reception records at Auburn, signed on the heels of linebacker Bill Cody and offensive tackle Bruce Yates, also of Auburn.

All three were leading Lion draft choices. The New York Jets of the American League also had drafted Cody, 220-pound, 6-foot-1 All-Southeastern Conference for three years running.

Gilmer, conceding the season was disappointing, blamed what he called "surprises," among them the lack of an anticipated good over-all passing game. But he refused to blame quarterback Milt Plum.

Buffalo Far Down in Statistics

Chargers Finish First in All 6 Major Categories

NEW YORK (AP) — There's no question why the San Diego Chargers are in the American Football League championship game Sunday but statistically there may be some wondering about the Buffalo Bills.

While the Western Division champion Chargers finished first in all six offensive and defensive statistical categories, the Eastern champion Bills finished at the sixth place only in rushing defense.

The Bills, according to league statistics released today, were eighth in passing, sixth in rushing, seventh in total offense, eighth in pass defense, second in rushing defense and sixth in total defense.

San Diego gained 3,103 yards passing to 2,461 for Buffalo, rushed for 1,998 in comparison to Buffalo's 1,288 and over-all gained 5,101 yards to 3,749 for Buffalo.

Defensively, the Chargers allowed a low of 2,182 yards passing to 3,170 for the Bills, gave up 1,094 yards rushing to 1,114 for the Bills and over-all allowed 3,276 yards to 4,284 for the Bills.

Hurley Tavern Operator Must Post $1,500 Bond

HURLEY (AP) — A tavern operator was ordered Monday to post a $1,500 bond as a good conduct guarantee in the first of five cases in which the state is seeking to close Hurley taverns on public nuisance grounds.

The bond would be revoked upon any complaint of lewd activity in the next two years.

Circuit Judge Lewis Charles described the Band Box tavern as "a clip joint" and originally ordered it padlocked for one year, but he agreed to stay execution of the order if the operator posted bond.

The tavern operator, Mrs. Teresa Kalasardo, was warned by the judge that no proof of further illicit activities would be required to close the bar. He said any complaint by the attorney general's office would revoke the bond.

ENFORCEMENT OF EXISTING BURNING REGULATIONS

The Fire and Police Departments shall enforce the Fire Prevention Code as follows:

1. City-wide inspections will be made regularly as the burning situation demands and all complaints will be investigated. Every effort shall be made to inform the residents of Appleton of the need for and the desirability of cooperating with the voluntary test ban as well as the regulations governing outside burning.

4. A second complaint against a resident who has previously been issued a written warning shall result in his being issued a second ticket if a violation is again found to exist. This second ticket shall also result in appropriate action being taken to prosecute the offender.

The Law and You

Freedom of Religion Does Not Allow Infringement on Others

The guarantee of the freedom of religion is twofold. The freedom to believe and the freedom to act. No one can prescribe or compel religious belief. Bible reading or prayers in schools cannot be required. Nor can our government establish a religion.

One's freedom to practice religion may have some restrictions, for action unlike belief may infringe on the rights of others and of society. In such cases, the courts try to strike a balance.

In a recent case, the Supreme Court of the United States passed on the validity of a local "blue law" that called on merchants to close their store on Sundays, even those whose Sabbath was on Saturday. The closing law, the merchants said, impaired their ability to earn a living and it infringed upon their religious freedom.

The Supreme Court upheld the Sunday laws saying, that the state had a lawful purpose in declaring one day a week as a uniform day of rest. This was not a "direct" burden on religion.

What is a "direct" burden? When can local laws restrict religion?

An earlier law made bigamy unlawful. The court said that the need for community peace and good order justified abolition of this practice, even though it was part of a religious belief.

Another state law forbade children from peddling goods after 8 p.m., despite some parents who felt that their children had a religious duty to sell church literature at all hours. Again the court said that the state's interest in protecting children overrode the individual's religious right.

But some burdens imposed by law lack a valid public purpose. All school children need not salute the flag if to do so violated their religious principles. No state can impose a direct tax on the right to "preach the gospel." In fact, under federal and state law the church is exempt from taxation.

Freedom of religion is often directly tied into the freedom of speech. The rights to go from door to door, or to speak in public or to hand out religious literature are also protected by the freedom of speech.

Bonn Doesn't Seek Own Nuclear Arms

Erhard Tells LBJ West Germany Wants Bigger Voice in Control

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany has publicly stated it seeks no nuclear weapons of its own, and wants at this time only a bigger say in their possible European use.

A West German spokesman announced the position Monday after Chancellor Ludwig Erhard conferred with President Johnson. The two leaders wind up two days of talks today.

Said State Secretary Karl Guenther von Hase: "Germany, the chancellor stressed, is not interested in national ownership, but asks for closer co-termination and for continued consultation."

Johnson and Erhard met in closed session with only interpreters present, and their spokesmen gave few details of the conversation.

Nuclear Policy

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said only that they talked about "nuclear policy and the President's efforts to assess the present German position."

There was neither confirmation nor denial of reports that the Germans favor an Atlantic nuclear force under which European nations would share ownership of a 10-submarine fleet armed with Polaris missiles. The submarines would be under command of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The ANF is Britain's alternative to the U.S. proposal for a multilateral force — MLF — which would involve NATO control of surface vessels armed with missiles and manned by sailors from NATO countries.

British Objection

Britain has objected to the mixed manning as unworkable. Its plan would fit in with the Labor government's pre-election pledge to abolish what Prime Minister Harold Wilson once called his nation's "so-called independent, so-called deterrent" — the expensive-to-maintain submarines.

The Erhard-Johnson meeting also triggered talk of cooperation in other areas. These were made publicly at a state dinner.

Both came from Johnson in his formal toast.

He proposed that the two nations join in "exploration of space," perhaps "a probe to the sun, and another, a probe to Jupiter."

Johnson said this was an "ambitious plan to permit us to do together what we cannot do so well alone."

The President also announced he will send a mission headed by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall to West Germany next month. Its goal will be to study the German anti-pollution program which, Johnson said, is one of the most effective in the world.

Good Will Outpouring Pleases Ailing Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephanie Smith goes home for Christmas today, "utterly flabbergasted" at the outpouring of good-will letters touched off by news stories of her seven-year battle against death.

"I'm getting out of the hospital in time for the holidays," said the pretty 22-year-old blonde, "just as I knew I would."

"But I never counted on this — the greatest Christmas present in all the world."

Hundreds of strangers at home and abroad wrote the victim of a rare blood disease at the Hospital of the Rockefeller University here. American servicemen wrote from overseas stations.

"It gives you a funny feeling, a real warm feeling," Miss Smith said in her hospital room Monday night.

"You somehow get to thinking that people today are just too taken up with themselves to worry about anyone else, much less care about a total stranger. Then along come all these beautiful letters and you see just how wrong you were."

"People do care."

Stricken at 15, Miss Smith has been in and out of hospitals 26 times, received the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church six times and was on the critical list "at least a dozen other times."

The blood disease, lupus erythematosus, once was considered progressively fatal but now is controllable with proper medicines.

"Any courage and determination I have I owe to my mother and I'm going to be home with her and Dad for the Christmas holidays," Miss Smith told The Associated Press 12 days ago.

"You can count on that."

About half the letters came from victims of the disease or relatives of victims.

Not Alone

"So many of them said they never knew of anyone else suffering with the disease," Miss Smith said. "And they said it gave them added hope and encouragement to know that they are not alone — to know that there are others who have the disease but are fighting it all down the line."

"This morning I woke up feeling very sorry for myself," wrote Bob Hacker, serving in West Germany with Company D of the Army's 9th Engineer Battalion.

"I had been thinking about home and Christmas and feeling blue because I couldn't be home with my family for the holiday season."

"I proceeded to read an article written about you and after I had finished, I felt very stupid and foolish. I thought to myself how very lucky I was to have my health and be able to do my part for my country."

Agents Seize 209 Pounds of Uncut Heroine

Army Officer One Of Seven Arrested for Narcotics Smuggling

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Federal agents nabbed what they described as "the largest single seizure of heroin ever made in the United States" and then quickly rounded up seven persons on charges of conspiring to import the narcotic.

The agents confiscated the record 209-pound cache of uncut heroin Monday at the trailer court home of CWO Herman Condor, 35, a 15-year Army man. He was charged with smuggling the narcotic into this country when he was transferred to nearby Ft. Benning from Orleans, France.

Federal men then arrested Frankie Dio, a Miami, Fla., nightclub operator, and five aliens. Commissioner Henry L. Giordano of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau in Washington said the arrests "were all tied together."

Underworld Kin

Dio, brother of the New York underworld figure Johnny Dio, was held in Miami on a charge of violation of federal narcotics laws. He faces arraignment before U.S. Commissioner Edward Swann.

In New York, U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said four French nationals and a Brazilian were arrested in connection with the shipment, which he said was worth $100 million on the underworld market.

However, Giordano put a $18.5-million value on the uncut heroin which is cut, usually with milk sugar, eight to ten times by everyone whose hands it passes through until an addict pays $5 for a bag containing only one to two grains of heroin.

Skipped by Army

Morgenthau said the Army unwittingly shipped the illicit drug into this country in a home freezer among Conder's household goods.

Federal officers estimated that Conder, the father of two, would have received about $19,000 for his role as courier in the smuggling operation.

Those arrested in Manhattan were identified as Jean LeFrance, 50, of France; Jean Nebbia, 52, of Corsica; Mrs. Lucien Cuvillier, 52, of France; Mrs. Suzanne Josette Couergou, 39, of France, and Francisco de Almeida, 43, of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

First Lt. George Steinberg, left, of Milwaukee, and SP/4 John Miller of Tarp Springs, Fla., were the first members of their patrol to reach the three employees of a U. S. construction firm freed from the Viet Cong captivity Monday night. They are members of the 2nd Battalion of the 1st Infantry Division's 16th Regiment that ambushed the Viet Cong unit holding the men captive. A fourth employee of the firm had been killed. ## Fire in Yonkers Jewish School Classroom Kills Nine Children

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A music classroom, gay with holiday song, became a death trap for nine children and three adults Monday night as a sudden flash of fire struck a Jewish community center in this New York suburb.

The children ranged in age from 7 to 11 and included three sets of brothers and sisters. Firemen said the victims apparently fell dead from smoke and fumes.

At least nine persons were injured, but only two were still reported hospitalized today.

One of the adult victims was Lucille Sacks, who had come to pick up her daughter, Sandra, after her music lessons.

Witnesses told police that Mrs. Sacks brought her child to safety but died after she re-entered the building, apparently caused it," he said. "We are investigating."

Nuns from St. Joseph's Hospital across the street joined firemen in rescue efforts.

"They came right over here and even attempted to go up in the building while it was burning," Gerloch related.

Hugh Sinott, 27, a passerby, led more than 20 children from the first two floors.

The initial consignment was collected in the San Francisco east bay area and brought to the American President Lines ship by a Southern Pacific Railroad train.

Other consignments are being collected at Clarfield, Utah, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other sponsors of the "People - to - people" goodwill plan.

Aiken Urges Pursuit Of Peace Feelers

Long, Costly War Alternative To Negotiations, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said today the United States must pursue diligently any Viet Nam peace feelers — no matter how tenuous they may appear.

"The alternative to negotiations may be a long war, costly in lives and national resources," Aiken said in an interview. He is the senior Republican in the Senate and a member of the Foreign Relations Committee.

While the Vermont senator was emphasizing the need to pursue peace feelers, a leading House Republican, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, praised the Johnson administration for stepping up bombing in Viet Nam and urged greater use of U.S. seapower in the Viet Nam war.

Escalate War

"They've decided to escalate the war on the ground," he said in an interview. "We think greater consideration should be given to a Kennedy-type quarantine, which we think will bring about the national goal of unconditional discussions with the North Vietnamese."

The Wisconsin congressman referred to the type of tight naval blockade President John F. Kennedy set up around Cuba during the missile crisis of 1962. Other Republican leaders have spoken in favor of such a technique in Viet Nam.

Laird said President Johnson has clearly set a goal of unconditional discussions.

Impose Quarantine

"The question is how best to bring about this goal," Laird said. "Couldn't you do it and cut casualties by means of a Kennedy-type quarantine? Ninety per cent of their war materiel is coming in by sea."

Increasing ground power would be moving into the area where the Viet Cong is strongest, Laird said. "Why not operate in areas where we have superiority? We believe a Kennedy-type quarantine would bring a settlement much faster than sending in 150,000 more troops."

Aiken expressed disappointment that a conditional peace offer by North Viet Nam — last repudiated by Hanoi — had been made public by the State Department.

The Vermont senator said this feeler had been reported to a delegation of senators, headed by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, during the course of a world fact-finding trip they completed Saturday night.

"We had our fingers crossed," he said. "We didn't think it was true. But the fact is that offers to negotiate must come in some such lower level because they can't come from the top."

No matter how tenuous it seems, we ought to pursue every peace feeler diligently," he added.

A reputed offer by President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam to go anywhere and talk to anyone about possible peace was relayed through two Italians who visited him in Hanoi. It was made public last Friday by the State Department after published reports said such an offer had been rejected.

Hanoi called the reported offer a fraud but admitted that Ho had conferred with the two Italians.

Children Learn Giving Is Exciting Too

A party at which children could learn the fun of giving was held Saturday afternoon by members of Athena Tri-Y. The young women invited 15 children to go shopping for Christmas presents for their families, and then took them back to the Y for a party of their own.

The Tri-Y girls arrived at the Y early to decorate for the event. Among the Christmas notes were a tree trimmed with popcorn balls made earlier in the week, candy canes, strung popcorn and strings of cranberries and candy cherries.

After the shopping excursion, the girls and their young charges returned to the Y where the children wrapped the gifts they had bought and were treated to entertainment and refreshments.

Advisors for the event were Mrs. Roy Leary and Miss Sandra Rushton. Becky Sage served as refreshment chairman; Cece Weiland, entertainment, and Betsy Freschl, of the committee to select the children.

Fete Families at Holiday Brunch

Holiday parties happen at all hours — afternoon skating parties for the young set — dances for their high school or college brothers and sisters — gala dinners and open houses for the grown-ups.

This year a happy new-again entertaining idea is the "Bring the whole family" party — and with all those other doings scheduled for later in the day or evening, the best time to fete entire clans is breakfast. Issue invitations for a lazy late hour — after church or before bowl game telecasts.

With a large enough table or a small-enough group, serve a sit-down meal. Otherwise collect a stack of trays and let guests serve themselves buffet-style. Either way, make the food festive, appealing and easy on yourself with this pair of menus designed to do just that.

Cooking For Many
All the food in both meal schemes can be adapted easily to any size group. Both coffee cakes are very special and very easy to make with mixes and speedy flavor additions. In one menu the Eggs Suisse bake at the same temperature as the Cranberry Streusel Coffee Cake so the two can be prepared together. The other menu offers a "starter" choice. Spicy Apricot Nectar, chilled and served from a punch bowl in honor of the occasion — or Mulled Apricot Nectar, hot and especially good on frosty mornings. And there's no rule against using these menus year 'round and making breakfast the entertaining specialty at your house!

Family, Strangers to Aid Orphans

By MARTIN RAY
Bismarck Tribune Writer

MOTT, N.D. (AP) — There's not much room for gloom in a house filled with 18 healthy, noisy children — not to mention two grownups and occasionally a couple of kittens and a pup.

At the Kerzman home here, 15 newly orphaned children are doing their best to carry on without their parents.

James C. Kerzman, 44, and his wife, Ione, 43, were killed Nov. 20 as the ambulance rushing Mrs. Kerzman to a hospital slammed into the back of a grain truck. She had given birth to her 15th child, a girl, only a few hours before.

Driver Killed
The accident also deprived seven other children of their father. Julius Bartells, 45, driver of the ambulance, was killed too.

The Kerzman story told by The Associated Press touched the hearts of thousands. A fund surpassing $12,000 has been raised to help the orphans. Another fund to aid Mrs. Bartells and her children also has been started.

Today the 15 Kerzman children are still in their farm home 13 miles northeast of Mott, in southwestern North Dakota. They are being cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Melford Johnson, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Kerzman.

Closed own Farm
The Johnsons, who have three teen-age children of their own, closed down their farm near Kenmare to devote full time attention to the orphaned youngsters and help keep them together as a family.

The place gets crowded, especially after school. But the youngsters are all good-natured, and the older ones help in keeping a lid on the younger children.

The baby, Mayruth, is home from the hospital now.

"Having her home really perked up the kids," said Mrs. Johnson.

At the other end of the age scale is Mayruth's big brother, Jimmy, 18. He has taken over the No. 1 role in the lives of his brothers and sisters.

Jimmy was a freshman engineering student at Dickinson State College when the tragedy occurred. He dropped out of college to help get things squared away at home and has not decided when he will return to school. The decision will depend largely on how much he thinks he is needed at home.

The Kerzman farm grows mostly wheat, with some feed grain and about 60 head of cattle. Right now Jimmy and his uncle are caring for the animals, patching up fences and buildings and working on farm machinery.

Johnson, who makes his living by carpentering as well as farming, is thinking about adding some bedrooms to the dwelling. There are six bedrooms now and the basement is filled with beds.

Despite an average-sized dining room and living room, the whole family eats together—at least the night meal.

Mrs. Johnson said, "Breakfasts get to be a little spread out," with the kids getting up at different times. She fixes at least a gallon of hot cereal for breakfast each morning.

Poodle's Psychiatric Problems Can't be Solved by Owners

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you will be more sympathetic to our problem than our friends have been. We have mentioned this to a few people and they broke up. We don't think it is funny. I will come straight to the point and tell you that our poodle, Sir Oliver, is an involuntary drop-out of canine school. We paid $150 for him and he came to us with the finest registration papers. For some mysterious reason, Sir Oliver cannot be housebroken, nor will he learn to take any other directions. The head of the canine school has told us that he believes the dog has a neurological problem and it is useless to invest any more money to train him. My husband says he does not want a dog around that is not housebroken. I have become so attached to Sir Oliver that I hate to think of giving him to a farmer as my husband suggests. Do you think there is a chance that if I work diligently with Sir Oliver I can teach him some manners? — Discouraged

Dear Discouraged: The head of the canine school is a better authority on this than I am. If he says your poodle has a little strudel in his noodle, I think you should take his word for it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has become friendly with a woman who works in a nearby office. He raved about what a swell "guy" Mabel is and insisted that we invite her and her husband to dinner.

I finally agreed. That was last spring. Mabel doesn't look like a guy to me. She looks plenty female. Her husband is a dumb cluck. Recently Mabel had to be hospitalized for an old back injury. My husband and I went to see her twice. The third time I told him if he wanted to go O.K., but not to ask me to spend my evenings like that. He has continued to visit her, and he always takes one of our sons along.

Correction

The four young women shopping for the family adopted by the Little Women's Circle of The King's daughters were not identified in picture in the Sunday Post-Crescent. Identifications should have read Molly Spanagel, Karen Herbolzheimer, Patricia Logan and Mary Rae, Circle president. The group is also planning the Spinners Spree Thursday evening.

Mabel is young enough to be my husband's daughter and I honestly believe he feels fatherly toward her. Also, we have a family of boys and he has always wanted a daughter.

Please don't tell me to wake up and smell the coffee as I have read that phrase in your column six times this year. I need something more definite to go on. Do you think there's some hanky-panky going on or not? — Uncertain

Dear Uncertain: A man who is interested in hanky-panky doesn't take his wife and sons along. Don't make any accusations or you may build a problem where none exists.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: There is a certain boy I will call Pete. He is in my home room class (we are both high school sophomores) and he called me for a date in October and I went out with him. Ann, it was like agony. He was so boring I felt worn out trying to think of things to say. When I got home I wrote in my diary, "Never again with this cipher."

Pete has asked me out almost every weekend since and I've run out of excuses. Would it be terrible to tell him that I'm not going with him again and to stop calling? I need your help, Annie. — Ickee-Poo

Dear Poo: Don't destroy the poor guy. Be sweet and tell him you know a couple of girls who are not dated up, and then give him the names of a few not-so-popular dames who might enjoy Pete's company.

Marionettes Tell Christmas Favorite

The marionettes were ready and so was the audience. Together they told the story of Christmas.

Since September the men and women of All Saints Episcopal Church have been engrossed in creating a holiday endeavor at the parish. They made marionettes, constructed a stage, learned to operate the 'strung' dolls, and wove a traditionally favorite tale, "Why the Chimes Rang", into a delightful holiday presentation.

Originally scheduled to be given in three afternoon performances at the Parish Center, the committee was compelled to add two morning presentations to accommodate ticket requests. There were full houses at each, with parents seated along the sidelines and taking momentary trips back to their own childhood enjoyment of the story.

Many parish members worked to make the production a success. Among them are Mrs. James Cowan, who provided her experience in the art of puppetry to instruct and guide throughout the project. Don Ritzer made the puppet bodies, and Mmes. John Barlow, Robert Boeing, Donald DeAngelis, P. A. Janson, T. A. Howells, Bruce Purdy, Richard Studley, Edward Uehlein, and Mrs. Cowan. Mrs. Dean Van Doren was chairman.

Mrs. Anne Glasner was costume designer and also adapted the story for the program.

The theater was built by Howard C. Upe, Kenneth Ligare and Mr. Uehlein, who served as chairman. Mrs. Uehlein and Mrs. Leon Gabriel had charge of sets and decoration.

Puppeteers were Mrs. Cowan, chairman, and Mmes. Robert Boeing, DeAngelis, Gabriel, Howells, Sumner Parker, John Taggart, Uehlein, Van Doren, Ronald Wallace and Averill Wiley.

Mrs. Richard Baker had charge of publicity; Mrs. Barbara Sykes, posters and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Sealy, handbills.

High school students of the parish, supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Estes, ushered at the performances. Mrs. Kenneth Ligare had charge of ticket sales, assisted by Mmes. John Butler, Eugene Casselman, O. H. Engebretson, Gabriel, Raymond Olson, Parker, Luther Rogers, Richard Studley, Taggart, Ronald Wallace, Wiley and Carl Wilke.

Mrs. Purdy was general chairman of the project, which may very well become a parish tradition.

Children of All Ages love marionettes, and preschoolers through primary and intermediate youngsters were no more thrilled than their parents with the show presented Saturday by the All Saints Episcopal Church parishioners. ## Astronauts' Kin Relax, Anticipate Yule Together

By PAUL RECER

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Marilyn Lovell, her husband's sweetheart when he was blowing up rockets at age 16, looked toward the moon Saturday, minutes after his return from space.

"I'm looking forward to Apollo" (the U.S. moon program), said the wife of the Gemini 7 pilot, Navy Cmdr James A. Lovell Jr. The 14 days in space were hard on her nerves, she said, but, "I'd go through it again—it was worth it."

Susan Borman, wife of Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, the command pilot, turned her attention from space to Christmas. A tree stood in a large water-filled pail in the Borman backyard, but it will be brought in soon.

Holiday Ahead

"We'll have everything ready (for Christmas) when he gets home," she said. Both wives greeted newsmen with relieved laughter.

"It was the most perfect mission I could hope my husband to be on," said Mrs. Lovell "I'm in an awed state."

Both wives watched television at their homes as their husbands stepped from a helicopter to the deck of the USS Wasp.

Borman looked "marvelous", his wife said, adding, with a laugh, "they got out of the helicopter and did a little jig for us."

The excitement is far from over at the Lovell house. Mrs. Lovell is expecting her fourth child. "It can come any time," she said. "I'm ready."

'Best Present'

Lovell's mother, Blanche Lovell, called her son's safe return "the best Christmas present I've ever had," but she added, "There's one more thing I'd like for Christmas—a grandson. And if he wants to be an astronaut too, that's just fine."

The astronaut's mother, a widow, watched the spacecraft recovery on television at her Edgewater, Fla., home.

Borman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Borman, watched the recovery at their home in Phoenix, Ariz. Of her son, Mrs. Borman said, "I thought he would look thinner, but he looked wonderful—just great. This is a wonderful day."

Waiting Endless

Mrs. Lovell, an attractive brunette who greeted newsmen in a maroon dress, said the two weeks were like "eternity. And the last 30 minutes were even longer."

Mrs. Borman said the most exciting time was "just a few minutes ago when they got out of the helicopter."

But she was the most tense, she said, during the rendezvous maneuver on Wednesday.

"There are so many hundreds of people that this meant so much to," she said.

Sons Enthusiastic

Frederick said the flight was "wonderful, great" and his brother agreed. Frederick was asked if he would like to go into space and Mrs. Borman quickly answered for him, "not today."

Barbara Lynn Lovell, 12, and James Arthur Lovell II, 10, were with their mother, but the youngest child, Susan Kay, 7, was at the home of Walter Schirra, command pilot of Gemini 6, to help decorate the Schirra Christmas tree. Both wives were the most anxious over when they would see their husbands. "He could come home even with his beard," Mrs. Lovell said, "and I'd welcome him with open arms."

without letting anything get gobbled up. Some bridge hands require the same kind of reasoning.

When this hand was played a few months ago in an English tournament, declarer landed on the wrong side of the water. It's hard to see where he went wrong.

Dummy's queen of clubs lost to the king and back came a club to dummy's ace. Declarer then led a trump to the ace.

South led a heart to the ace and returned a diamond, taken by the ace. East returned a club to South's nine, and South ruffed a heart in dummy. Declarer discarded a heart on the queen of diamonds, got to his hand with the king of spades and ruffed his last heart with dummy's last trump.

Losses Two Trumps
Dummy's last cards were three diamonds, and South had J-10-4 of trumps. If he led a diamond from dummy and ruffed low, West would over-ruff. If South ruffed high, West would discard. Either way West would get two trump tricks, defeating the contract.

South landed in the wrong hand because of that needless first round of trumps to the ace. If he omits that play but otherwise plays in the same way, he ends in dummy with a trump and three diamonds and with A-J-10-4 of trumps in his own hand. He leads dummy's trump to the ace and returns the jack of trumps, limiting West to one trump trick.

Whenever you are planning a series of plays, look ahead to see where you will finish. Don't strand yourself on the wrong side of the river.

Readers Challenge Claim Of Low Cost Food Bill

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

I'm getting pounced on in every mail by readers who challenge my recent statement that a couple who has been married 40 years can eat moderately well on $16.50 a week.

One man writes: "Husband and wife eat on $16.50—and we don't eat on $16.50—aw, c'mon girl." One woman claims it takes more than $30 a week to feed her and her husband.

Well, all you dear, doubting readers, let's examine that controversial figure of $16.50 and get some points straightened out.

Point number one is that the letter I answered originally stated that the couple had been married "almost 40 years." This assumes that both would surely be within the age range of 55 to 75 years old. As men and women grow older, their food needs and intake lessen. This automatically reduces the food bill. According to U. S. Department of Agriculture nutritionists, $16.50 a week for a couple in this age range is estimated as "moderate"—not "minimum." And the figure is based on 1965 food prices.

Keep in mind that these experienced nutritionists are concerned with nutrition—not with an individual's possible preference for prime beef every night. In order to control your budget, it's also necessary to meet it halfway where your food likes and dislikes are concerned.

On this "moderate cost" food plan, the Department of Agriculture cites the kinds of food that can and should be estimated for the man and for the woman (she usually eats less than he does). I put this information in chart form for quicker reading:

Kinds of food and quantities per week:

Milk, cheese, ice cream (milk equivalent man 3½ qt., woman 3½ qt.)

Meat, poultry, fish—man 5 lb., woman 4½ lb.

Eggs—man 7, woman 6.

Dry beans and peas, nuts—

man 2 oz., woman 2 oz.

Grain products—whole-grain, enriched, or restored (flour equivalent)—man 3¼ lb., woman 1¼ lb.

Citrus fruits, tomatoes—man 2¼ lbs. woman 2¼ lb.

Other vegetables & fruit—man 5½ lb., woman 4½ lb.

Fats and oils—man ¾ lb., woman ¾ lb.

Sugars, sweets—man ¾ lb., woman ¾ lb.

Now for some sample menus the Dept. suggests for this 55 to 75 age group:

Breakfast: orange juice, oatmeal, milk, toast. Lunch: frankfurters stuffed with mashed potatoes and cheese; scalloped tomatoes, hot rolls, apple brown betty. Dinner: lamb stew with potatoes, snap beans, bread, chocolate pudding.

Next day's suggested menus: Breakfast: prunes, French toast, syrup. Lunch: lamb stew, beets, tossed green salad, bread, rice and raisin pudding. Dinner: casserole of spaghetti, tomato, and chopped meat; broccoli, bread, grapefruit segments.

Some other main dishes include braised liver, meat loaf, baked fish, Swiss steak with mashed potatoes, creamed egg and mushrooms on noodles.

I suspect that a lot of the howls I'm receiving come from younger couples who would naturally have lustier appetites.

A moderate cost food plan for this age group would be $19.50. While even a young couple can provide themselves with adequate nutrition on less than

Fire Destroys Merrimac Mill

MERRIMAC, Wis. (AP) — Firemen from three communities fought a fierce blaze which destroyed the Merrimac feed mill early today.

Merrimac firemen were aided by units from Sauk City and Baraboo after the first alarm was turned in around midnight. Wilbur Zurbach, 58, owner of the mill, was hospitalized at Sauk City for treatment of over-exertion in helping to combat the flames.

Cause of the fire was not determined and the financial loss was not available immediately. The junior high school at nearby Prairie du Sac was destroyed by fire Sunday night.

$19.50 a week—and don't think it isn't being done in some households—the Department of Agriculture also offers these young couples some sample menus for a food expenditure of from $18 to $20 a week (including some convenience foods):

Breakfast: orange juice, hot cereal with sugar and milk, toast. Lunch: sliced chicken sandwich, lettuce, pickles, cake, milk. Dinner: cube steaks with onions and tomato sauce, French fried potatoes, tossed salad, biscuits, vanilla pudding with peaches.

Breakfast: grapefruit sections, omelet, caramel-nut rolls, baked fish, Swiss steak with peanut butter, crackers, milk, cookies. Dinner: baked ham, baked sweet potatoes, green beans, celery stuffed with cheese, corn muffins, cherry pie.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

ARE SOME PEOPLE AFRAID TO LET THEMSELVES GO? YES ☐ NO ☐

Yes. Many people have intense feelings, like hatred, lust, temper, or greed, that seem overpowering. They fear that if they ever got loose, they would go too far and cause both trouble and shame. The best way to handle these negative feelings is to replace them with positive ones. As you learn to love and accept others, it isn't so hard to hold your resentments and temper in check. Then you can relax and enjoy life.

Once a girl marries, it is hard to finish school. True — False —

True. That is why so many schools, colleges and professional schools are initiating new programs to make it possible for married women to complete their education. Some universities are encouraging married women to come back and finish their degrees, after years away from the campus. Graduate programs are being stretched to allow married women to complete their professional training without undue strain on their families. Some women take refresher courses after their children have grown. Such efforts are in the right direction.

— for the woman, for the family, for the country.

Kennedy Half Dollars Vanish in New England
BOSTON (AP) — Half-dollars are scarce in New England. The Federal Reserve Bank said it's due partly to the Kennedy half-dollar which was minted for the first time in 1964.

In New England particularly, people didn't regard the Kennedy half-dollars as spending money, but rather as keepsakes. Millions of them which were placed in circulation last year immediately went out of circulation.

Kaukauna Assemblyman On Committee

William Rogers Named Member of Indian Study Unit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Assemblymen William Rogers and Herbert J. Grover Monday were unanimously appointed members of the Menominee Indian Study Committee by the Legislative Council.

Rogers is a Democrat from Kaukauna and Grover, who was renamed to the committee, is a Democrat from Shawano.

The committee is a special study branch of the legislature. Chairman is Sen. Reuben LaFave, Republican of Oconto. Of major concern to the committee before the May session of the legislature will be a bill offered by LaFave to create a new state Indian affairs commission.

The council also appointed Charles Manson and Gordon Snykin of Madison and Guy Dorazio of Abbotsford as public members of an insurance laws codification committee.

Manson is a former state commissioner of insurance, and during his term called for a revision of the state's insurance laws. Snykin is a lawyer, and Dorazio a former school teacher and is now a general insurance agent in the Clark County town.

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi of Minoqua, Republican minority leader in the lower house, greeted Snykin's nomination by saying that Snykin, who had been hired for special legal work for the insurance commission under Manson's leadership, had "some very set ideas about insurance management which are in my opinion not in agreement with the insurance industry itself."

But Alfonsi said the selection of Manson, a Democrat, was an excellent choice for the study group.

Assembly members appointed to the committee are John McCormick, D-Milwaukee; James A. McCann, D-Milwaukee; and Bernard M. Lewison, R-Viroqua.

They join Sens. Holger Rasmussen, R-Spooner; Ernest C. Keppler, R-Sheboygan, and Martin J. Schreiber, D-Milwaukee, who previously had been appointed to the committee.

Tipsy Driver Fined $200

W. W. Schulke, 39, Of Almond Loses License for Year

WAUPACA — Willard W. Schulke, 39, route 1, Almond, was fined $200 and costs when he pleaded guilty in Municipal Justice Court Monday of driving while under the influence of intoxicants. The judge also revoked Schulke's driving privileges for one year.

Schulke was arrested after he lost control of the car he was driving and the vehicle struck a utility pole near the State and Badger street intersection early Sunday morning.

He was given the breathalyzer test at the sheriff's office, which showed a .22 reading. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Appleton Man Given Year in Reformatory For Worthless Checks

Phillip W. Flater, 28, 115 Gardners Row, was sentenced Monday afternoon to up to one year in the Wisconsin State Reformatory, Green Bay, on each of four counts of issuing worthless checks.

The terms are to run concurrently. However, Flater is on probation from Waupaca County on a one-year sentence on bad check charges which was stayed last September.

The term he received Monday in Outagamie County Court will be served consecutive to any term that might be imposed in Waupaca County.

Flater, through his court appointed attorney, pleaded no contest to the four bad check counts last Friday and was found guilty by the court.

He was charged after investigation by Appleton detectives, who said Flater cashed two $50 checks, one for $25 and another for $20 at Appleton business places between Dec. 7 and Dec. 14.

Car Skids on Road, Hits Tree in Kimberly

KIMBERLY — Approximately $200 damage resulted about 2 a.m. Monday when a car being driven west on Kimberly Avenue skidded on icy roads, jumped a curb and struck a tree, according to village police. Driver of the auto was Richard Ponschook, 19, 1602 S. Walden Ave., Appleton.

Appleton Man Gets Major Share Of Morgan Estate

Stanley G. Morgan, Appleton, has been named to receive the major share of an estate left by Miss Carrie E. Morgan, noted Appleton educational leader who died Oct. 14, 1964, at the age of 100.

Miss Morgan left an estate of $120,000, including $22,500 in real estate, according to a final account filed with Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Morgan, who was named to receive $91,808, had lived with Miss Morgan since he was six years old and "stood in the relationship of a son," according to the will.

Miss Morgan's cousin, Gertrude M. Weston, was named to receive $7,697 and the remainder of the estate went to friends and organizations including Appleton Women's Club, First Congregational Church, Appleton Memorial Hospital, Outagamie County Humane Society, and Gamma Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority.

Toll-free calling service between Appleton and Shiocton telephone customers began today, Richard C. Van Sistine, local manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co. announced this morning.

The new service arrangement adds an additional 300 customers to the Appleton local calling area. Other communities with which Appleton already has this service are Black Creek, Hortonville, Kaukauna, Little Chute, Neenah, Menasha, and Sherwood.

Mannequins Form Nativity Scene in War

Soldiers, Church
Workers Contribute
To Christmas Creche

BY HUGH MULLIGAN
CAN THO, South Viet Nam
(AP) — A lifesize mannequin in GI fatigues stands guard behind a sandbag bunker over the largest nativity scene in the entire Mekong River delta.

The Christmas creche in the 4th Corps Military Compound was put together with clothing store dummies, procured from a Saigon department store supplier. Then there were hours of labor, contributed by American soldiers and by church workers from surrounding Vietnamese Christian churches.

"We worried about the propriety of having the security guard on duty at the bunker," said Lt. Col. Frank C. Riley, the corps chaplain from Augusta, Ga. "But after all, the compound was under mortar fire within the past five months and peace on earth is obtained only with eternal vigilance."

Had $100

Riley, the Protestant chaplain, made numerous scrounging trips to Saigon with Maj.
Alvin L. Campbell of Springfield, Ill., the Roman Catholic chaplain, to find the lifesize mannequins. Between them, they had only a little more than $100, most of it raised by passing the hat in the vicinity of the post exchange, officers club, enlisted men's bar and other sections of the high-rent district.

"When we finally located a man who could provide the dummies, he wanted $380," said
Chaplain Riley.

At that point he decided to buy half figures at less than half the price.

For weeks Father Campbell worried that perhaps the Saigon supplier might send the wrong half. But the convoy managed to make the 70-mile trip down the delta without being intercepted by the Viet Cong, and the correct half, the upper half, of all 16 figures arrived on time.

Made Clothing

Vietnamese church workers with the local Christian Missionary Alliance sewed beautiful garments for the mannequins.
GIs went to work building a huge stable out of bamboo mats and fashioning wooden stilt legs for Joseph, the three Wise Men and the other traditional figures in the nativity scene.

"That angel up there is a true disembodied spirit," said Chaplain Riley. "It's just a head and a pair of wings."

Similarly, the three oxen poking their heads into the stable are lacking in substance from the neck down. Enterprising military planners filled out the sirlon sections with rolled up ponchos, and provided rope tails.

Choir Girls

Vietnamese girls from a church choir in Can Tho painted all the figures and, where proper, provided them with cotton beards. Vo Hiep, a petite and charming secretary, had planned to take three days off during Christmas to be with her family. Instead she took the time off to work on the crib in the compound.

Father Campbell found some gold — an ammunition box wrapped in gold gift paper, and frankincense — regular church incense — for the traditional Wise Men's gifts. He couldn't

Jason Robards Called Top Dramatic Actor

Quality of Honesty Shines Through Into Stage Characterizations, Says Writer

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's a quality of honesty in the acting of Jason Robards, and that quality has helped make him the top dramatic actor of the American stage.

His honesty is not an act. He is a pliant of honesty in the acting of Jason Robards, and that quality has helped make him the top dramatic actor of the American stage.

He and his wife have a son, Sam, and she also has two children by Humphrey Bogart. Robards has children by a previous marriage, which explains the top dramatic actor of the American stage.

The actor was not what you'd expect. Offstage, the lanky, leather-faced Robards is as candid as a sandhog. He harbors no illusions and promotes none. "The reason is that he has been 'Another turkey,' 'Act One' around."

Jason Robards Sr. was a film star, and his son was subjected to the disillusioning sight of a star's descent from fame. Young Jason had no yen for acting, went to Hollywood High School at the same time as Lana Turner and shipped out in the Navy. He landed in New York after the war, tried his hand at soap operas, then climbed his way in the theater from "The Iceman Cometh" to "After the Fall."

Rare Movie Role
He's here now for one of his rare movie roles, appearing with Henry Fonda and Joanne Woodward in "A Big Hand for the Little Lady." Why is he doing the film?

"Alimony," he said simply. "Same reason I just did a Chrysler Theater TV show. I came out here for a vacation with Betty (Lauren Bacall) and the kids, and I've worked every day."

'Nutcracker' Slated for CBS Tonight

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7-12 —

A very beautiful production of Tchaikovsky's lovely ballet, The Nutcracker is fine family holiday viewing. Edward Villella, Melissa Hayden and Patricia McBride are the leading dancers in this lavish show filmed for television two years ago in Munich. Other roles are danced by leading performers of European ballet houses. As usual in this ballet, the loveliest piece of the evening is the serene snow scene. Eddie Albert is host.

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-6-9 —
Combat brings back, and welcome she is, Luise Rainer, the luminous star who retired from films 26 years ago after winning consecutive Oscars for "The Great Ziegfeld" and "The Good Earth." She plays a former nurse, married to a French count (Ramon Novarro), whose chateau houses priceless antiques. He is a gracious gentleman whose sole aim is to preserve his heritage. A wounded Rick Jason is brought to the chateau where he receives aid from the countess.

6:30-7 — Channels 4-5 —
My Mother the Car has a "kind-of" version of O. Henry's "Gift of the Magi"—the kind of story O. Henry might have turned out if he hadn't been talented. Seems Jerry Van Dyke and Maggie Pierce are in an art class; he's turning out a bad painting and she a bad piece of sculpture.

(Color)

7-7:30 — Channels 4-5e Don't Eat the Daisies has some fun with the budding careers of Joan as a playwright and Jim as a director. Also with a brassy movie queen, a "once was" who wants to be a "now is."

(Color)

7:30-8 — Channels 11-6-9 —
Ernest Borgnine again plays two roles in McHale's Navy, as the skipper and as his look-alike cousin Giuseppe. This winds up with McHale being forced to masquerade as his cousin who is suspected of being in the black market, while the cousin must masquerade as McHale, who will otherwise be missing from the PT-73. It's funny.

7:30-8:30 — Channels 2-7-12 —
The Red Skelton Show has a new version of "The Plight Before Christmas," which was presented last season in black and white. Now color has been added to this Skelton potpourri of slapstick, sight gags and poignant moments in which Freddie the Freeloader plays host to a little old flower lady, unaware she is actress Greer Garson. (Color)

8-8:30 — Channels 11-6-9 —
Troop continues its delightfully nutty way with Ken Berry showing what an imaginative, versatile comedian he is. He "rescues" the daughter of the Hekawi chief from the arms of the Shug warrior she loves, and so winds up the unwitting groom in a wild wedding scene.

8-10 — Channels 4-5 —
Tuesday Night at the Movies has an interesting, visual take in "The Savage Innocents," but be sure your thermostat is set high, because there's a lot of snow and howling wind. Anthony Quinn stars as an Eskimo whose first contact with the white world ends in tragedy. (Color)

9-10 — Channels 2-12 —
CBS Reports has another "Town Meeting of the World," via Early Bird satellite. This is a debate on the subject: "Resolv-

A Firm Believer in mixing religion and song is the Rev. Kenneth V. Rancourt, 30, Catholic priest and missionary from the Immaculate Retreat House in Williamantic, Conn. Guitar in hand, Father Ken travels throughout New England parishes bringing folk songs with his sermons to teen-agers. Father Ken says he is not worried about today's teens. Music helps him get his message across and the young people accept both him and his music with enthusiasm.

Normally Mild Areas Chilled

Freezing Weather Comes to Southeast On Eve of Winter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cold weather chilled some of the nation's normally mild sections today in advance of the arrival of the winter season tonight at 8:41 p.m. EST.

Freezing weather dipped into areas in the Southeast, with near freezing in parts of the Gulf states. It also was a little chilly in sections of the Southwest desert region.

The coldest weather, below zero and near zero, was in northern New York State, northern New England and in parts of the Great Basin region in the Far West. The mercury dropped to 25 below zero Monday at Wanakena, N.Y., in Adirondacks.

The snow covering across most of the nation was reported generally light. Heaviest amounts, up to 30 inches, were in the western Adirondack foothills in New York State and in mountain areas in the West.

Snow in Michigan
In the Midwest, snow measured 19 inches at Houghton, Mich., in the extreme northern Upper Peninsula. Amounts in other parts of the Midwest were generally light.

Snow fell during the night and early morning across broad areas from the Great Lakes region into the middle Atlantic states. Heaviest amounts appeared to be in West Virginia, with two inches in a six-hour period at Beckley, and one inch across most other areas. Washington reported light snow during the morning, the first of the season. Light snow also fell in Philadelphia.

Showers spread slowly through Washington State and into sections of Oregon during the morning. Heavy fog shrouded the central valley of California and the Weather Bureau reported visibility dropped to nearly zero in many areas, disrupting air travel and slowing auto traffic.

Next State Budget To Top $1 Billion, Writer Forecasts

Post-Crescent Capitol Reporter Predicts Tight Governor's Race

The next Wisconsin state government budget will reach the billion dollar mark and probably exceed it, the state capitol correspondent of The Post-Crescent told the Appleton Rotary Club this noon.

John Wyngaard, veteran Madison representative of the newspaper, discussed state affairs and prospects for the 1966 Wisconsin political campaigns.

He said Gov. Warren P. Knowles will be a candidate for a second term and will probably be a favorite for re-election on the basis of historical precedent and the record of the 1965 legislature and the positions taken by the Republican governor.

But he warned that the margin of voting strength between the Democratic and Republican parties is a narrow one and that all Wisconsin state elections for the discernible future are likely to be hard fought and determined by close votes.

2nd Term Traditional

Wyngaard noted that the Wisconsin electorate has tended to give a second term to most of the men who have reached the state executive office, and that Gov. Knowles has muted some of the familiar and favorite issues of the Democrats through his first term program. He mentioned Knowles' espousal of liberal educational budgets, the first open housing act ever enacted in Wisconsin, highway construction acceleration, conservation program expansion, and others.

The reporter noted that Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey is generally regarded as the early season favorite for the Democratic nomination for governor, but predicted a lively and fairly close campaign between Lucey and David Carley, the Democratic national committeeman.

Tax Trend Up

The dominant problem in state government will continue to be the financing of an unprecedented expansion of public services and the demand for such costly benefits as tax-supported higher educational opportunities, Wyngaard said.

He noted that the state-local tax burden in Wisconsin is now growing more rapidly than is the federal tax liability, and that the trend will inevitably continue unless there is a major war or a national emergency of similar dimensions.

Coach Roberts In Race for School Board

Viking Mentor Becomes Fourth To Take Papers

Ronald D. Roberts, 34, an assistant physical education professor and head football coach at Lawrence University, has become the fourth Appleton resident to circulate nomination papers for school board.

Terms of three school commissioners will expire next April. One incumbent has indicated she will not seek re-election.

Roberts, who lives at 216 N. Park Ave., obtained his papers from the city clerk's office Monday afternoon. In addition to his teaching and football duties, Roberts also coaches tennis and wrestling.

Three other residents are also in the running for the three-year terms. Among them are Mrs. Helen Heil, 1735 N. Oneida St., and John A. Schneider, 628 E. South River St., both incumbents.

The third is Max Hensel, chairman of the city's personnel committee and a public accountant. Hensel lives at 1007 E. Glendale Ave.

School board members serve without pay.

In another pre-primary election development, Ald. Al Stoebauer, 66, 406 N. State St., took out papers and announced he would be seeking a 10th term. Stoebauer has been a member of the council for 18 years.

Deadline for filing is Jan. 25.

Neligence Ruled in Auto Mishap Death

Retired Policeman Killed in Crash In Winnebago

NEENAH — A coroner's jury has ruled the driver of a car involved in a collision resulting in the death of George Goldner, 60, 922 W. Caroline St., Nov. 21, was negligent.

The six-man jury ruled Mrs. Robert Endter, 403 Williams St., Combined Locks, showed "ordinary negligence."

Goldner, a retired policeman, was killed in a two-car crash on Main Street and Green Bay Road. Police said the car driven by Mrs. Endter collided with a car driven by Alvin E. Thoma, 637 Cleveland St. Goldner was a passenger in the Thoma vehicle.

The inquest was resumed this morning after adjournment Dec. 13 to give the jurors an opportunity to view the accident scene and examine vehicles involved.

The previous session heard testimony from David L. Franz, 915 W. Caroline St., an eye witness to the accident, and the investigating policeman, Robert Mevender. Sgt. Ray Tuchscher testified to diagrams drawn establishing the action during the accident. Mrs. Lorena Eisch, 403 Williams St., Combined Locks, a passenger in the Endter car, also testified.

Testimony was also given by William Kranzusch, 742 N. Division St., Appleton. He was the driver of the car Franz was riding in when Franz witnessed the accident.

The final testimony was given by George Mickelson, 431 E. Lindbergh St., Appleton, who aided in caring for the injured until authorities arrived.

The Fox Valley Section of the American Welding Society, Inc., will sponsor an educational course, "Modern Joining Processes," next year. The course will run from 7 to 9 p.m. on six Monday nights, starting Feb. 21, at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. service center, 200 N. Appleton St. The committee making final plans for the program included, left to right, seated, Ben Mueller, Manitowoc Shipbuilding; E. O. Boelter and E. R. Pierre, Miller Electric Manufacturing Co., and standing, John Wiegand, Allis-Chalmers Appleton Works; R. W. Davidson, Azco, Inc.; J. G. Waldron, Miller Electric; Walter Winter of August Winter & Sons, Inc., and Clarence Wiesseckel and Hilary Arnoldussen, Miller Electric.

School Reorganization Unit Selected Monday by CESA 8

7-Member Committee Will Hear Requests for District Revamp

Seven persons from the 14 school districts in Cooperative Educational Service Agency 8, were elected to the newly-formed School Reorganization Committee Monday.

Elected from Outagamie County were Norbert Vanevenhoven, Kimberly, to a three-year term; Robert C. Schneider, Hortonville and Norman Foxgrover Jr., Kaukauna, one-year term each.

Winnebago Representatives Waupaca representatives are Francis Werner, New London, three years, and Dave Lindsay, Manawa, two years. Elected from Winnebago County were Mrs. Louis Jensen, Winneconne, three years, and Mrs. Kenneth Watts, Oshkosh, two years.

The committee will study and re-evaluate requests for reorganization of present school districts.

Vanevenhoven, Kimberly postmaster, has served on the board of education for four years. He was board president during school reorganization and planning and construction of the new Kimberly Senior High School.

Lawrence Graduate Schneider, a graduate of Lawrence University, has served on the Outagamie County Library Committee, is a member of the Hortonville Planning Board and president of the Community Schools Advisory Board. He owns and operates a feed mill.

Foxgrover is a member of the board of appeals for the City of Kaukauna.

Agricultural Engineer Werner, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and Notre Dame, is a practicing attorney at New London. He has served on the city council, is a member of the board of directors of a bank and vice president of the utility commission for the City of New London.

Lindsay, an agricultural engineer at Manawa, is director of the farm department at a Green Bay radio and television station. He has had experience in various phases of distribution planning for area corporations.

Mrs. Watts, an active member of the Oshkosh PTA, has served on an advisory citizens committee on a state school consolidation, a citizens committee on the formation of the school district, and chairman of United Fund, Oshkosh.

Mrs. Jensen, a teacher at Winneconne, has served on the County School Committee, as president of the Winnebago Homemakers, and on the National Grange secretary. She is 4-H Club county leader.

Astronauts Become Honorary Musicians With 'Jingle Bells'

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—For their rendition of "Jingle Bells" from outer space, astronauts Walter M. Shira Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford have been made honorary members of the American Federation of Musicians.

Three officials of the federation's Boise local took the astronauts after listening to the astronauts perform last week.

Want Tamper-Proof Product

Legislators Seek Counsel on ID Cards

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Confounded by an abundance of conflicting advice from printers and manufacturers, the Wisconsin legislature has turned to the state crime laboratory for counsel on the production of a forgery-proof and tamper-proof card that can be issued to hundreds of thousands of youths as proof that they are old enough to drink beer in public places.

The problem of forged "ID" cards has troubled tavern keepers, police, and legislators for years. The problem took up weeks of discussion time during the regular session of the legislature earlier in the year, when it was finally turned over to the Legislative Council for study.

Monday the Council held a public hearing on the problem, listened to rival ideas of commercial fabricators, and decided it should call for the objective assistance of experts. The State Beverage Tax Division and the Motor Vehicle Department were instructed to work with Charles Wilson, chief of the crime laboratory.

County Function The present law provides for the issuance of the identity cards by the county registers of deeds, many of whom admit that the documents are widely forged or changed after they are issued. City clerks in some communities also issue them.

But one of the political factors involved in the argument is the desire of some legislators to set up a central state office for the issuance of such cards and the desire of the registers to retain the function locally. They now collect a one dollar fee for the cards, which is the typical county returns a profit of about 70 cents to the county.

Harold Hill of Dane County, a register who issues up to 10,000 of the cards yearly, most of them to University of Wisconsin students, told the Council that the simplest way to reduce the forgery problem would be to impose severe penalties for forgery or any alteration of the document. He doubted that a forgery-proof card could be devised.

The development of new photocopy machines has made the ordinary black on white card easy to duplicate, the legislators were told, as they were advised

Employment Rate Rises 6 Per Cent Over 1964 In Outagamie County

Overall employment in Outagamie County, according to the Wisconsin State Employment Service, showed a gain of 6 per cent from mid-November in 1964 to mid-November in 1965.

The 57 establishments that voluntarily participate in the state's labor market program report an increase from 13,295 to 14,120 in the one-year period.

A significant gain of 7 per cent occurred in employment at manufacturing establishments, with machinery manufacturing firms leading on a net gain of almost 13 per cent.

In non-manufacturing groups, retail trade, due mostly to increased business flow and the opening of several new retail centers, enjoyed a substantial increase of 19 per cent over mid-November of 1964. The gains more than offset season declines in paper, textiles and public employment.

Seasonal Decline

The WSES predicted that total employment in the Appleton labor market area is expected to have a seasonal decline. The decline is expected to come in textiles and in the retail trades, primarily because of the post-holiday adjustment. These declines are expected to be offset to some extent by gains in the machinery manufacturing category.

In general, the WSES reports, the demand for workers, even in the present tight labor market, will tend to cover required replacements only. The demand for skilled workers remains much greater than the available supply.

As for unemployment, 606

Chief Issues Reminder On Parking Ban

KAUKAUNA — With the arrival of the first snow Monday, Chief Harold Engerson, reminded motorists of the city ordinance prohibiting overnight parking on city streets.

Warning tickets have been issued the past few nights, but police will be instructed to tag cars for illegal parking if vehicles remain on the street, noted the chief. Action is necessary to permit city crews to handle early morning street clearing.

Site Selection Group Meets

Citizens of Fox Valley Lobby for 4-Year School

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Dozens of witnesses representing Fox Valley Cities crowded a state capitol hearing room today to offer reasons why each of their home localities is the most perfect location for the new northeastern Wisconsin third and fourth year university.

The day-long hearings conducted by the statutory site selection committee concerned criteria established for the determination of the best possible site for the senior college.

Various Witnesses

Witnesses included legislators, city officials, community development corporation representatives, chamber of commerce spokesmen and interested area citizens.

Chairman of the committee charged with making a site recommendation to Gov. Warren P. Knowles and the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, is Assemblyman Glenn Pommerening of Wauwatosa.

The committee was established by the law which created the new school and its sister campus in the Racine-Kenosha area.

Opens in 1969

The new university is scheduled to open its doors to students in the fall of 1969.

A final site recommendation is expected late in January from this committee.

Among the sites which have been informally proposed to the committee are several in both Brown and Outagamie counties, Marinette, Brillion and Forest Junction.

Fox Cities Firm to Buy Two Craft

Air Wisconsin today placed orders for two jet-prop airplanes that will carry 17 passengers each, company officials announced.

The planes, ordered from DeHaviland of Canada at an estimated cost of $300,000 each, will be used to beef up the Appleton-based airline's schedules between Outagamie County Airport and Chicago's O'Hare Field.

One of the "Twin Otter" planes is expected to be delivered in November, 1966, the other in March, 1967.

Twin Engines

The Twin Otter, a new plane developed recently by DeHaviland, will be powered by twin Pratt and Whitney jet turbo-prop engines. It will carry a pilot and co-pilot in addition to 17 passengers, luggage and freight space.

Like the three 9-passenger DeHaviland "Dove" planes presently operated by Air Wisconsin, the new planes will be equipped with radar transponder systems.

A transponder is a device that permits an aircraft to identify itself to ground radar stations. While the major U. S. "trunk" airline use transponders, few planes on the small lines have the equipment.

Started Sept.

Air Wisconsin began operations with two Doves Sept. 1, offering four daily non-stop flights each way between Appleton and Chicago. It recently added a third Dove to its fleet, using it to add an extra section on popular flights.

The rapid growth of Air Wisconsin's business in the three and a half months it has been operating brought about the company's decision to order the larger, jet-powered planes, officials said.

To implement the expansion program, an additional issue of 30,000 shares of capital stock has been authorized, according to President Karl Baldwin. The stock will be offered to the public at $5 a share, the same price as the company's original stock offering.

Little Chute Man Gets Six-Month Jail Term For Violating Probation

Raymond W. Buettner, 26, 129 1/2 Lincoln St., Little Chute, was sentenced to six months in county jail when he appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a charge of probation violation.

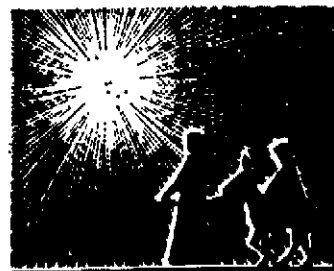

Buettner, who was placed on two years probation in December, 1964, after he pleaded guilty of possession of an auto without the owner's consent, absconded to Wyoming, violating provisions of his probation.

Authorities returned Buettner from Wyoming for court appearance Monday.

The ornaments are made in white and gold to symbolize the purity and majesty of the Son of God. Left to right are Sue Pohman, Lynn Wiedenhaupt, Bruce Brunner and Steve Loewenhagen. # Revision Advised for Public Works Division

Appleton Street and Sanitation Committee
Okays Changes in Administrative Setup

Reorganization of the administrative structure of the Appleton City Engineering Division should be getting more pay and wants the personnel committee to look into the matter.

Should Pay More

"I will go along with the reorganization chart but I think we are going to have to pay our engineers more money if expecting them to stay with the city," Radder said.

During the past year there has been a turnover in the engineering division as some members were hired by private industry at higher salaries.

Under the reorganization, the engineering division would be separated from the service divisions and have sections for field survey work, design, inspection and clerical.

Francis H. Keuler was recently appointed city engineer and will head the division.

Blue Chips, Steels Raise Averages

Market Concern Over War, Possible Tax Increase Subsidizing

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and assorted blue chips gave the stock market a substantial rise on average early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The steels racked up some solid gains as they responded to another sharp gain in weekly steel production.

At the same time Wall Street's concerns about Viet Nam peace feelers, a possible tax increase and spreading interest rate boost seem to have subsided considerably.

Many issues were rebounding on a technical basis from an oversold condition, analysts said.

A generally higher tone prevailed among aerospace issues, electronics, utilities and chemicals. A good many key stocks showed little or no change.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 354.9 with industrials up 1.3, rails unchanged and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.68 at 958.90.

As steels advanced, Lukens rose 4 and Jones & Laughlin 2.

A 2-point jump by Eastman Kodak bolstered the averages. Also helpful in that respect were gains of nearly a point by American Telephone and Texas and a full point advance by Johns-Manville. More strength was contributed by Du Pont, Union Carbide, General Motors and United Aircraft, all of which made fractional gains.

IBM gained 4, Polaroid and U.S. Smelting (ex dividend) about 2 each.

Prices were mostly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds declined.

2 More Seek CATV Franchise For Menasha

MENASHA — Two more requests have come to the city for exclusive rights to a community antenna television system, it was announced Monday.

The two requests bring the total here to three. Two have been filed in Neenah and five in Appleton.

The common councils of all three cities have voted to table the requests, referring them to committee for further study and to await a ruling on the CATV industry by the Federal Communications Commission.

The second request in Menasha was filed by Marcus Theatres CATV Systems, Inc., headed by Milwaukee developer Ben Marcus who has several major holdings in the Fox Cities. Marcus also has applications filed in Neenah and Appleton.

The third application came from a Boston, Mass. firm, James K. Donahue Co.

Due Late Tonight U. N. Delegates Push Toward Adjournment

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates pushed wearily to close the lid tonight on a General Assembly that has plowed through two years of accumulated business and broken a few precedents.

Assembly President Amintore Fanfani was expected to gavel the grueling session to a close late tonight or in the early morning hours, depending on the volume of windup oratory.

It will mean the end of an assembly that had to take time out from current business to clean up financial and house-keeping items untouched during last year's session paralyzed by the voting deadlock over peace-keeping finances.

Key Debates

In the past three months, the delegates also were host to such figures as Pope Paul VI, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Austrian Chancellor Josef Klaus and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

Cutting in on the work schedule of key delegates were Security Council debates on the strife in Cyprus, the independence declaration of Rhodesia's white minority government, the India-Pakistan conflict and the situation in Portugal's African territories.

The assembly session saw Red China's boosters make the strongest showing yet in their 15-year struggle to capture the Chinese seat for Peking.

It also saw the big Asian-African group maneuver itself into the power role it has been seeking since 1955, when new Asian and African states began flocking into the organization.

Brushing aside U.S. objections, the Asian-Africans Monday night rammed through the 117-nation assembly a proposal which in effect junked the long-standing rule that important issues require a two-thirds majority for approval.

Despite warnings from U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg that a dangerous precedent would be set, the assembly decided that a resolution before it calling for elimination of colonialism required only a simple majority for approval.

Shawn Has at Least a Million Grandmothers

MENASHA — "Shawn must have at least a million grandmothers," Jerome Sobiesczyk, said, referring to the hundreds of Christmas cards that his 4-year-old son has received since his arrival at Cincinnati General Hospital 10 weeks ago.

Shawn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Sobiesczyk, 208 Edgewood Lane, was seriously burned in a gas explosion last Jan. 17. He was first treated in Theda Clark Memorial Hospital and later transferred to St. Mary Burn Center in Milwaukee. He is presently being treated at the Shriners burn center in Cincinnati.

Every day nurses at the center read about a dozen Christmas cards and get well greetings from people throughout the country, many of whom refer to themselves only as "grandmother." He has received cards from almost every state, from Maine to Hawaii, according to Sobiesczyk.

The child's parents recently returned from Cincinnati where they reported Shawn was in "real good spirits" even though he wouldn't be home for Christmas this year. He may not be home for several years to come. Some doctors have said that Shawn will have to undergo skin grafting for a period of 10 years.

He has already received about a dozen skin grafts, including one last week. Many more will be needed to replace scar tissue which covered almost 85 per cent of his body.

Shawn was severely burned along with his father, an uncle, Hillard Sobiesczyk, 39, and his grandmother, Mrs. Theresa Sobiesczyk, 58, when an explosion rocked Mrs. Sobiesczyk's home at 981 Clover St., Menasha, almost a year ago. The three others spent about five months in Theda Clark Memorial Hospital before being released with permanent scars.

Twin City residents who may wish to send Shawn a Christmas greeting can send it to Cincinnati General Hospital, Ward C-3 Pediatrics, 3231 Barnett Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Burglars Get $100, Radio at Menasha Parish

MENASHA — Determined burglars, searching for valuables at St. Thomas Episcopal Church, 226 Washington St., smashed off eight locks, crudely prying open a safe in the parish office and escaped with an estimated $100 and a transistor radio early today.

The Rev. Thomas K. Chaffee, pastor, discovered the break-in at 6:19 a.m. today when he arrived at the church to prepare for the 6:30 mass.

Entrance to the building was probably gained through the open front door of the church sometime during the night, police said. Once the burglars were inside the church, they smashed off eight door knobs in various locations, including the attic door, storage closets in the basement and the lounge area in search for valuables.

The door to Assistant Pastor Rev. William E. Neal's office was unlocked and the unidentified person or persons entered at the front of the building, opened the window adjoining the parish office and discovered the safe, police said.

Police said the burglars attempted to open the safe in the parish office by knocking off the combination dial but were unsuccessful. They then wheeled the medium-sized safe into Father Neal's office and prying open the front with heavy instruments.

Five Injured In Car-Truck Collision

OSHKOSH — A truck loaded with tons of corn collided with another vehicle on U.S. 41 in the Town of Vinland Monday afternoon sending five Kimberly residents to the hospital with minor injuries and covering the highway with corn.

All five of the injured were in a car driven by Earl Welhouse, 62, 326 N. Pine St., Kimberly, which collided with the truck driven by Edward Antoniewicz, 71, White Lake, as the truck pulled onto the highway from a farm driveway, according to Winnebago County police.

Antoniewicz was shaken up and advised to see a physician.

It's Still AA With One Credit Rating Firm Drops Appleton Rank

Mayor Clarence Mitchell disclosed Monday he intends to check into the circumstances which recently led a national investor's service to revise Appleton's credit rating from AA to A.

Last week, prior to a $6.9 million bond sale by the city, Moody's Investor's Service, Inc. changed the rating because of what it described as "an accelerated debt pattern of the city in recent years."

However, another leading national rating firm, Standard and Poor's, indicated the latest bond issue had no effect and it still gave Appleton the top AA credit rating.

Plans Discussions

Mitchell said he discussed the matter with Finance Director Henry Schreve and both intend to meet with representatives of Moody's.

On Dec. 16, City Clerk Elden Broehm sent a communication to Schreve's office, enclosing a letter from Moody's which requested additional information over and above the normal pre-bond issue data.

Mitchell said it was unusual the rating firm would want the information after the bond issue was completed.

"It deserves checking out, especially in light of the fact that the other rating firm continued to give Appleton a top credit recommendation," Mitchell said.

Planned Program

Mitchell noted the city has a planned capital improvement and financing program and said now was the time to meet with the representatives of Moody's to determine whether there may have been extenuating circumstances leading to the rating change.

At the bond issue opening, it was noted by a local banker that Appleton's credit rating was affected by 17 base points. Schreve said it appeared to be minimal considering the size of the bond issue.

Viet Nam Needs Debate in Congress

The probability that there will be some amount of debate about the war in Viet Nam in Congress when it reconvenes in January is reportedly contrary to President Johnson's wishes. But one matter that ought to be spelled out is the extent of our aims in Southeast Asia.

President Johnson has repeatedly said that we do not want territory or bases or a wider war. We believe him. But what has also been stated as the scope of our aim—the destruction or discouragement of the Viet Cong and their assistance from North Viet Nam so that the South Vietnamese may choose and run their government without terrorism or other harassment—needs more concise definition. With the arrival of more North Vietnamese units and thus far the failure of our bombing raids to force negotiations, where are we heading?

The predictions of both the military leaders in Viet Nam and the various American officials who have visited Saigon have been wrong. The small role of American advisors and instructors mushroomed into what is certainly a war whatever the lack of declaration. But even though our government made serious miscalculations, we need not make more.

If the "peace feelers" from Hanoi are not real, exactly what do we want to result from the war? Is it to be complete defeat of the North Vietnamese? Will that encourage stability in the South Vietnamese government? What about the "free" elections set in the Geneva accords but not agreed to by either the United States or South Viet Nam? There is widespread discussion of the probability that the United States will step up the bombing raids of the north and include the port of Haiphong as well as military targets closer to Hanoi. If this does not bring about capitulation or negotiation, are there plans for the invasion of the north by American troops traveling the Ho Chi Minh trail in reverse through both Laos and Cambodia? And how many American troops will that take since the present estimated 180,000 are not enough to conquer the villages in the south?

Of course American authorities do not not plan to wage wars. The attack on Pearl Harbor was also an American miscalculation although the higher echelons of the Roosevelt Administration had conceded that we would probably be drawn into the Pacific war. But a Congressional debate this January might at least give the American people some idea of the future in Southeast Asia, the risks we are taking and just how far we are willing to go in fighting the Communists on the site they have picked as their most advantageous.

The Re-Election of De Gaulle

The re-election of President Charles de Gaulle of France came out almost exactly as predicted by the French Institute of Public Opinion which had been conducting polls of the voters. But the real surprise in the two elections was not only that De Gaulle was actually challenged in his bid for another seven year term; for the first time in French history, there appeared to be considerable interest in public participation in an election.

This is the first time in recent French history that the head of the government has been chosen by a vote of the people. The changes in the French constitution, engineered by De Gaulle himself several years ago, have made the presidency not only a far more important position than under the old system, but also made the head of government directly responsible to the people rather than only to parliament. The French people, highly articulate politically but handicapped by the system which works in Great Britain but did not in France, responded by turning out at the polling booths in record numbers.

The importance of television in the election also should be noted. De Gaulle's opponent, Francois Mitterand, made extensive use of the media especially during his campaign before the first election. Before the run-off, the usually aloof De Gaulle was forced to accept television appearances as well. And it was apparent from some of his statements that he did have concern that his image as a man opposed to the United States and the Common Market had contributed to the relative success of his opponents in the first election.

There is unlikely to be any great change in the French attitude as represented by De Gaulle. He intends France to have prominence in European affairs and he has done well in restoring his country to that position. It is possible that De Gaulle may recognize that the opposition to him in the election reflected concern over his policies and especially the direction France will follow after De Gaulle is no longer president. But it should also be noted that the new system of popular election of a president who has extensive authority has served to reduce the ability of the small and fragmented parties, so numerous in France, from influencing the policies of the nation all out of proportion to their numerical strength. That alone can be cited as a major achievement of De Gaulle.

But in the long run a nation cannot forever pick a father figure to handle its responsibilities. The heavy vote in France and the fact that there had to be a run-off election indicates that the French people may at last be accepting more of the responsibilities of citizenship.

GOP Needs More Candidates Like Percy

Charles Percy's decision to run for U.S. Senator from Illinois is a much-needed shot in the arm for the Republican party. At a time when the GOP is floundering in a leadership vacuum, Percy brings to the fore a dynamism evident in his personality and political philosophy. Head of Bell & Howell Co. at the age of 29, Percy ran for governor last year at the age of 45, losing to Gov. Otto Kerner.

Since his defeat however, Percy has continued to demonstrate he is the type of person the GOP needs to re-establish itself as a major political party. Percy zeroed in on a GOP problem when he told Republicans at a luncheon last June at Darbo that "We must broaden our base so that we are more representative of all the people of America." He said the GOP needs the depositors as well as the bankers, the customers as well as the businessmen and the patients as well as the doctors.

Cognizant of one of the party's weaknesses, Percy asked: "When are we going to start helping the Negro people?" He stressed that if Republicans are to rise again, they must start associating themselves with "progressive ideas and with the human rights movement."

Hearing these words from a younger Republican indicates there is still some hope for the party's future. As older Republicans have left office or lost influence in the party, there has been a dearth of younger Republicans running for office with sound ideas to meet the challenges of a new era.

Percy's candidacy allays some of the fears expressed by voters upon learning that the Milwaukee County YGOP leadership recently chose Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina as the person best representing "the new image of the Republican party." Thurmond, previously a segregationist Democrat, supported Barry Goldwater in the last election and became a Republican.

One unfortunate aspect of Percy's candidacy is that he will be opposing Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a Democrat who has served in the senate since 1948 and done an admirable job. Although a vigorous campaigner, his age, 74, may be a disadvantage in a race with the 46-year-old Percy.

A Percy victory in 1966 would establish Percy as an attractive presidential candidate for 1972. More candidates like Percy and New York mayor-elect John Lindsay are needed in the GOP. As Percy said last June, "If Republicans help people, we'll win the right to their votes." And not before, we might add.

Grant Impresses Southerners

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Dec. 28, 1865.

The Raleigh Progress of Nov. 30th recounts the visit of Gen. U. S. Grant, and his reception in that city, as follows:

"The hero of the war arrived in this city on Saturday night. He breakfasted with Gen. Comstock alone, for one hour or more after which he received the dignitaries and members of the Legislature in the parlor of the hotel.

"During their interview with Gen. Grant, he conversed freely most of the time, and listened carefully to the remarks of Dr. Sloan and other gentlemen on the situation of South Carolina.

"He disclaimed, however, any authority or desire to interfere in any way with civil government in the State, for the full and easy restoration of which he was desirous to do all in his power. He said he thought the existence of parties of different opinions was necessary to a healthy condition of the country, though the preservation of the Union should always be paramount."

"All who met and talked with Gen. Grant were duly impressed with both his attitude and deportment."

Maugham Believed That He Owed Readers Courtesy of Writing Well

BY MAX FREEDMAN

An eccentric tradition confers a halo of greatness in England on a writer who has survived to be 80 years old. Until he reached that great age Somerset Maugham was incumbered by his vast popularity and serious critics dismissed him as a mere entertainer.

Cyril Connally was almost

alone in calling him a "great writer." Maugham had made too much money, had written too many books, had established his popularity too extensively in the United States, and had insisted too much on clarity and simplicity in an age which cultivated the virtues of obscurity for him to hold a proud place in the heritage of English literature.

Then, as he dwindled into old age and obstinately refused to die, it slowly appeared to many people that Maugham was overpaid as a novelist and neglected as a master of letters. He began to be praised as an artist long after he had anything to say. This charming inability of the English mind to distinguish between longevity in a man and immortality in a writer must have brought a detached amusement to Somerset Maugham. For he knew too much about the art of writing, and practiced it with too much skill, to suffer any illusions about his ultimate place in literature. Overpraise would be as distasteful to him as the small irritations often expressed by critics who could not write one of his lucid and graceful paragraphs to save their little souls.

COULDN'T READ WOLFE

Maugham once confessed that he found it positively up by merchants of the village and the program was to include the singing of carols and the presentation of gifts to the children by Santa Claus.

10 YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Dec. 20, 1955.

William Dowling Jr. of Neenah slammed the second men's national honor count in bowling that season in the Sleepy Hollow League play at Muench's. He totaled a 708 threesome with his high game 289, ten straight strikes before getting nine on the 11th ball, and then picking off the spare.

Winners of the second annual individual handicap tournament at Lakewood Lanes that week were Dick Schnoor, Menasha, Class A; John Barber, Oshkosh, Class B; and George Antilla, Class C. Butch Kramer, tournament secretary presented the prize awards.

Officers of the newly organized Pep Club at Winneconne Community High School were Bill Hewitt, president; Keith Halder, vice president; Margaret Korn, secretary, and Mary Beth Morgan, treasurer.

Edison Cub Scouts who treated Appleton shut-ins to some Christmas carols that week included David Hanne-mann, Thomas Slover, Thomas Williams, James Henderson, William Wiley, Russell Grobe and Charles McKee.

painful to read Thomas Wolfe because Wolfe could not write. This is as if an English curate were to complain that St. Paul had an unregulated enthusiasm for religion. And yet, after the spasm of incredulous anger has passed, one realizes that Maugham, by his own standards, was right. He would have treated almost everything that Wolfe wrote as a rough draft. He would have rejected it because it lacked the classic virtues of brevity, clarity, propriety, precision and balance.

But Maugham in the process would also have rejected the tumult of genius. With all his immense talent, Maugham never really could accept the fact that you had to take a writer like Wolfe with all his faults in order to give scope to his far-sounding and often incomparable greatness.

Maugham was often a better craftsman than the world's supreme novelists. He proved this talent when he cut away the dead wood and dull passages in his edited versions of the "Ten Great Novels." But he could never write one of these novels himself, and he knew it. He was always the master of his material, never attempting more than he could do and relying on his complete mastery of the difficult art of narration to make the reader turn the next page.

As an intelligent and sensitive student of the harmonies of English prose, Maugham found his own three masters in Dryden, Swift and Addison. He thought the literary influence of the Bible had been unfortunate because it had popularized a love of magnificence alien to the genius of English prose. In some ways he owed more to the French tradition than to the English masters. Balzac and Maupassant held his admiration to the end. He had few affinities with T. S. Eliot, except for a shared and noble enthusiasm for the glories of Rudyard Kipling.

SYMPATHY FOR HUMANITY

In a now forgotten book, Maugham wrote with unexpected compassion and vivid sympathy for ordinary humanity as he described the courage and self-respect of other refugees on the ship from France fleeing the scourge of Nazi tyranny. Not often did Maugham drop his role as a skeptical and rather disdainful spectator of the human comedy and engage openly in its deeper agonies. He did so again with unforgettable pathos and power when he described the suffering of the Chinese coolie as seen long ago during his travels in China. This sudden glimpse of the humanity and gentleness of Maugham was always overpowering but these qualities were never far from his spirit and could not be altogether concealed by his sardonic mockery.

Immensely intelligent, invariably honest, impeccably devoted to his craft, Somerset Maugham always believed that a book should give pleasure and that he owed the reader the courtesy of writing well. He gave many of us endless pleasure and for that high gift we can be very grateful, without bothering our heads one bit over whether the unpredictable future will remember or forget him.

Idea of Limiting Size Of Madison Campus Is Broached by U Faculty

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Those thousands of former University of Wisconsin students of the two decades between World War I and II undoubtedly found it somewhat difficult to credit the recent press release from the campus relating that a faculty committee has urged that enrollment at Madison be limited to 35,000.

Anyone who attended the University before about 1940 can remember that the emphasis was on growth, that students however mediocre in preparatory attainment were greeted with enthusiasm, and that not a few of the professors with whom they became acquainted were worried that budget strains during the depression years might cost them their jobs if enrollment sagged too severely. When this reporter braved the registrar's office in the melancholy days of the early depression, for example, the student body was only a little more than a third of the 29,000 boys and girls who are swarming over Bascom Hill today. To many a wide-eyed boy and girl the campus was an immense place. It would have been quite impossible to imagine that it might one day grow to 40,000 or more, as the permanent faculty now evidently believes.

THE VIEW

The faculty committee report has not yet been endorsed by the faculty as a whole, or by the regents or administration, as this dispatch is prepared, but it is probably representative of campus thinking.

The evident worry is that a university must fix a maximum size to protect the integrity of its programs and the quality of its service.

"Whenever there is a conflict between issues concerning the size of any campus and the quality of the activities, the decision should be made in favor of quality," the study committee report declared. Since official estimates of specialists with a demonstrated skill in forecasting indicate that a student body of 40,000 at Madison will be reached before the end of the decade, it is evident such decisions will soon be before the educational policy makers.

The alternatives might be the development of a second campus in Madison, as some university teachers have said, but that scarcely appears to be a realistic alternative, everything considered. There may be some tendency to stiffen admissions requirements, although that poses obvious political difficulties. For the immediate future, it appears likely that the relief from the enrollment explosion may come through the development of additional extension centers, the qualitative and physical growth of the state university system, and the creation of new four-year campuses in the populous northeastern and southeastern districts of the state which have already been authorized by legislative act.

FORECASTS

Implicit in such volunteered proposals for the establishment of the first ceiling ever seriously suggested for the university is the echo of the unparalleled demand for educational opportunity in our times.

It has been the most important trend in governmental affairs during the last decade, when higher education enrollments at tax supported institutions doubled. It will be an even more important event, almost revolutionary in its impact, during the next decade, when enrollments will almost surely double again and when that doubling of enrollments is likely to bring about a tripling of public expenditures for its support, as one study in depth has noted.

An executive department task force on governmental expenditures recently reviewed higher education cost trends, and filed a surprisingly cordial and understanding report, all things considered.

In concluded that "society is placing an ever higher valuation upon post-high school education and that future access to it will be considered a right of all young people." When the University faculty even hints that it may be desirable to erect a dam before the flood, with respect to its own campus, the dimensions of the problems facing governors and legislators—and taxpayers—during the next 10 years can scarcely be misconstrued.

Strictly Personal

Foreign Phrases Are Changed in English

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An editorial I read the other day used the tag-line from the old joke about the Frenchman in the House of Deputies remarking that there is only a small difference between men and women—whereupon another deputy stands up and shouts, "Vive la difference!" The only thing wrong with this story is no Frenchman would ever say it that way. "Vive la difference" is a wholly English expression. "Vive" in French means only a "sting-fish." The Frenchman would say "Houarras!" or "Bravot!" or just possibly "Vivat!"

One of the most curious aspects of language is the fact that so many so-called "foreign phrases" are not used in the land of their presumed origin, or are used in a totally different way. Dozens of words we think of as "French" would puzzle a Frenchman if he heard them here.

We use the French word "encore" to call back a performer; the French cry out "Bis!" We use the French phrase "Nom de plume" for someone writing under an assumed name; the French say "Nom de guerre."

"Brasserie" is a French word, but it means a child's bodice or vest in French; what we call a "brassiere" is called a "soutien-gorge" in France.

Although "menu" is a reputable French word, the Frenchman in a restaurant does not ask the waiter for one; he asks for "la carte." The only time, indeed, he calls for the "menu" is when he wants to know the "menu a prix fixe"—which, inexplicably enough, we call "table d'hôte."

"Pie a la mode," of course, is totally unknown in France, except through American tourists who seem to believe that "a la mode" is French for "topped with ice cream."

(And perhaps the most horrible Gallic perversion now appearing on American menus is the phrase: "Roast beef with au jus," as though "au jus" were some special kind of juice, instead of simply "with juice.")

"Lingerie" in French refers more to linens than to underwear; the latter is generally called "sous-vetements" or "dessous." We day a "double entendre" for a phrase with a dirty hidden meaning; but the French call this a "double entente."

One of the most fascinating examples of change from one language to another is our use of the French word "morale" as in "the morale of the troops." This is utterly unknown in France, where "morale" means "ethics" or "moral faculties." What we call "morale," the French, oddly enough, call "moral," or "etat d'esprit," or "force d'ame."

There's a moral to all this, somewhere if you're willing to look for it!

Some in India Want No More U. S. Wheat

Minister of Food Claims Nation Can't Live Without Aid

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The issue before Parliament was whether, as a Communist charged, India was mortgaging its interests to America to get food for its hungry millions.

Some members demanded an immediate end to the flow of American wheat that has come into India for years. "Self-sufficiency" was their cry.

Then, a stocky man rose from the government benches.

It would be "dangerous and foolhardy," he said, for anyone to say India can manage in the critical months ahead without imported food.

Hand Over Portfolio

And, he added, if any man has the courage to say India can manage alone: "I shall gladly request the prime minister to hand my portfolio to him."

It was Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam, employing the perfect squelch he has for critics who attack his handling of India's food problem.

He offers them his job.

No one accepts because no task in this nation is more thankless than trying to fill 480 million Indian stomachs.

There is, in fact, some feeling that taking the job constitutes political suicide.

An interviewer asked Subramaniam about this. A smile flitted across his normally intent face.

Didn't Believe

Yes, he had heard that talk of political suicide — but he doesn't believe it.

With luck and rapid delivery of American wheat, major famine can be warded off in 1966, some experts say, and with hard work and more luck, India can become self-sufficient in food in five years or so.

If this happens, Subramaniam's seeming political predicament might be highly beneficial. People might think, for example, that a man who can handle the food portfolio could be an eventual candidate for prime minister.

At 55, Subramaniam can claim to be as well trained for the job as any man in India. His career mirrors India's struggle for independence and its 18 years of self-rule.

Agricultural Family

Subramaniam was born into what his official biography calls an "agriculturalist family" in South India. He took a law degree in 1932 but like many young Indians of that era, he didn't head for a law office. He marched out to do battle with India's British rulers.

In the next 11 years, Subramaniam was thrice a guest of British jailers.

When free, Subramaniam rose rapidly in Congress party work in his home state of Madras and moved onto the national stage with independence in 1947. In 1962, he joined the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's Cabinet.

Analytical Mind

He quickly earned an international reputation as one man in New Delhi who possessed a coldly analytical mind free of ideological prejudices often found in Democratic-Socialist India.

When U.S. officials expressed reservations about India being serious with plans to wean itself from American food, Subramaniam came up with a detailed "package plan" designed to achieve self-sufficiency by 1970-71.

President Johnson responded by releasing $50 million to help India buy fertilizer, and ordered 1.5 million tons of wheat expedited to Indian ports.

First Voter Intimidation Suit Started

Louisiana Farmers Accused of Forcing Tenants From Land

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) —

The nation's first voter intimidation suit filed under the 1965 Voting Rights Act accuses a Louisiana registrar and seven landowners of forcing Negro sharecroppers from their life-long homes.

Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion said he will not defend the registrar, Fletcher Harvey, named in the federal court suit Monday.

"I'm not responsible for the predicament that he is in," said Gremillion. "He caused it of his own accord."

When told of his state's legal attitude, Harvey replied, "I don't want to know what he says."

Harvey, six landowners and one farming company were charged with forcing from their homes Negro tenant farmers who registered to vote.

Hearing Set

U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West has scheduled a hearing on the matter in Baton Rouge on Thursday.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the case was the first voter intimidation suit under the 1965 Voting Rights Act. His department seeks a court order to ban interference with Negroes seeking to vote in the parish.

Named defendants, in addition to Harvey, were Edward I. Daniel, Jordan Truitt, John Spillman, R. Harry Daniel Sr., R. Harry Daniel Jr., B. Harrison Barrow and Daniel & Truitt, Inc., a farming firm.

The defendants refused to comment or were unavailable for questions.

Earlier Monday, Katzenbach designated four more Mississippi counties — Carroll, Newton, Simpson and Warren — for federal examiners, bringing to 36 the total so designated under the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Literacy Qualification

Katzenbach said registrars would go to the four Mississippi counties immediately after the first of the year because local registrars have continued to use literacy as a voting qualification.

The state of South Carolina filed a brief with the U.S. Supreme Court explaining in detail its contention that the Voting Rights Act is unconstitutional.

Briefs as friends of the court also were filed by Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi, Virginia and Alabama, contending the voting rights legislation exceeds congressional authority.

In Louisiana, the complaints said Negroes who registered in West Feliciana Parish have been subjected to a variety of economic penalties — usually the termination of long-standing sharecropping agreements — since October.

None of the 2,700 eligible Negroes was registered to vote in the parish by the end of 1963 and nearly all of its 1,400 eligible whites were registered, the Justice Department said.

Ornaments on Lutheran Tree Hold Meaning

KIMBERLY — A large Christmas tree has been placed in Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, decorated with ornaments made by the Ladies Aid Society.

All the ornaments are made of white and gold to symbolize the purity and majesty of the Son of God. The idea of the ornaments originated in Danville, Va., in 1957. New designs are to be added each year from symbols of the church. Tiny white lights are used to illuminate the tree, reflecting the purity of the Savior.

Ornaments include a ball with a cross on top symbolizing Christ over the world; a miniature sun referring to the old testament prophecy of the Birth of Christ, the "Sun of Righteousness"; the cross is a reminder of the work of the Savior redeeming mankind; the letters XP or Chi Rho are the first two letters of Christ in Greek and the Greek letters Alpha and Omega, first and last letters of the Greek alphabet refer to Christ as the "beginning and the end." Latin Symbols for "Christ the King," are also used and the circle is a symbol of eternity with Him.

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Police are investigating an apparent car theft which occurred some time during the late morning hours while the owner was working at Marathon's downtown Neenah plant.

The car, belonging to Ronald Beach, 244 Ninth St., Neenah, was found abandoned on County Trunk S, just east of U.S. 45, about 8:03 a.m. today by Winnebago County Police.

Investigation showed that the car was supposed to have been parked in the Marathon parking lot. A check with the owner indicated that the 1958 automobile had been parked when he went to work at 11 p.m. Monday. The theft had not been reported because Beach had been working overtime.

McNamara Postpones Almost Half Military Construction for Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's slash of nearly half this year's military construction program foreshadows a new defense budget shorn of anything which cannot be justified by military necessity and the Viet Nam war.

McNamara signaled this Monday in saying that indefinite postponement of $620 million in construction of homes for service families, barracks and other like facilities is "symptomatic war-caused budget pinch are a start in production in the Nike X antimissile system and a proposed new atomic-powered aircraft carrier for the Navy.

Top officials believe there is no urgency to get under way in either of these projects. The Nike X could cost as much as $20 billion ultimately and the Navy carrier would come to several hundred million dollars in one lump sum.

Final budget decisions have not yet been made but there has been speculation that the new defense money request may top this year's $49 billion by as much as $10 billion.

8,500 Units

At an unannounced news conference, McNamara declared that his department is eliminating or deferring everything that can possibly be sidetracked "without eating into the muscle" of U.S. armed might.

McNamara said that in addition to family housing and barracks the projects involved such facilities as additions to hospitals, bachelor officer quarters and modernization of training schools.

Wiped out were all 8,500 units of new housing for families of servicemen planned for this year. This accounted for $160 million of the $620 million being deferred.

The armed services have argued that improved family housing was one of the major steps needed to encourage trained and professional servicemen to remain on active duty rather than seeking better-paying jobs in civilian life.

The Pentagon planned to announce today the list of deferred projects in 42 states, the District of Columbia and 18 overseas locations.

It also may announce another list of high-priority projects, totaling $685 million, which will go ahead in 36 states, the District, and 16 overseas sites.

Police Kill Milwaukeean In Exchange

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One man was shot to death and two policemen were wounded critically in a blistering exchange of gunfire to face-to-face range in a South Side apartment bedroom today.

Killed by at least six shots from policemen's revolvers was Gary Lee, 25.

Patrolman Edward Wegner, 31, was taken to St. Francis Hospital and Officer Thomas Sbonik, 29, to County General. Both were in critical condition and both were being prepared for surgery.

Wegner suffered shotgun wounds in the left chest and arm. Sbonik was hit in the right arm and shoulder.

The Police Department said Lee had arrived home at his family's apartment above a soap and paper company about 6 a.m. and for some unknown reason fired a shotgun at his mother, Mrs. Ethel Lee, 60, who was washing dishes in the kitchen. The shot missed and struck a cabinet. Lee then turned the gun on his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Miller, 85, also missing.

Mrs. Lee ran outside, asked neighbors to seek police help and then locked herself in a bedroom.

Lee also locked himself in a bedroom as police arrived. When he refused to leave the room, Officers Wegner and Sbonik smashed down the door and were met by Lee's gunfire.

Red Missiles Miss Mark As Air War Closes in On Red City of Haiphong

BY THOMAS A. REEDY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. planes brought the air war on North Viet Nam closer to Haiphong in the past 24 hours. A spokesman said they unleashed their bombs and rockets only 12 miles from the country's major port and paid a return call on the Uong Bi power station, which supplies electricity to Haiphong and Hanoi.

The Communists sent up several missiles against the U.S. Air Force and Navy planes but they missed their mark, the spokesman said. The American pilots spotted some MIG17s over North Viet Nam, but the Communist jets did not attack the faster U.S. planes.

Air Force pilots made 52 assaults over the North, dropping 115 tons of 750-pound bombs and firing rockets and cannon as well.

Shot Down

Three fighter-bombers were shot down by ground fire, U.S. spokesmen reported, and only one of the pilots was rescued.

In the South, a big C130 troop transport crashed near the Tuy Hoa air base on a resupply mission. Viet Cong ground fire drove off rescue helicopters, and it was not immediately known how many men were aboard.

U.S. infantrymen rescued two American construction men and a Vietnamese driver from Viet Cong kidnappers early today when the Communist unit stumbled into a GI ambush.

A fourth captive, a Dutchman, was killed by the Viet Cong before they fled into a forest alongside a road near Di An, 15 miles northeast of Saigon.

Navy Aloft

Navy planes from the carrier Kitty Hawk went aloft at noon

today and bombed a major highway bridge just north of Haiphong in the deepest penetration yet of the Haiphong-Hanoi industrial complex. Spokesmen said they scored five direct hits.

Earlier, the Kitty Hawk's planes attacked the Uong Bi power station, 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, following up a raid last Wednesday by a flight of Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs. The Air Force pilots claimed their strikes, the closest until then to Haiphong, knocked out the plant with bulls-eye hits, cutting off 25 per cent of Haiphong's power and a third of Hanoi's.

No Explanation

Spokesmen gave no immediate explanation for the return visit but said the Navy pilots reported unloading their bombs in the target area. Reconnaissance showed sections of Haiphong and Hanoi still without electricity, the spokesmen said.

An Air Force F105 took a burst of ack-ack and crashed into the Gulf of Tonkin. The pilot, Capt. John S. Ruffo, 33, of Mount Morris, N.Y., was picked

Titan 3 Soars Into High Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A mighty Air Force Titan 3 rocket thundered into the sky today carrying four satellites toward an intended lofty orbit 21,000 miles above the equator.

Two of the satellites packed experimental communications gear, one will measure deadly solar radiation and one will be used by amateur radio operators around the world.

The 12-story-tall Titan 3, most powerful rocket now in use by the United States, blasted off on its third test flight at 9 a.m. (EST).

Due Late Tonight

U. N. Delegates Push Toward Adjournment

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. delegates pushed wearily to close the lid tonight on a General Assembly that has plowed through two years of accumulated business and broken a few precedents.

Assembly President Amintore Fanfani was expected to gavel the grueling session to a close late tonight or in the early morning hours, depending on the volume of windup oratory.

It will mean the end of an assembly that had to take time out from current business to clean up financial and housekeeping items untouched during last year's session paralyzed by the voting deadlock over peacekeeping finances.

Key Debates

In the past three months, the delegates also were host to such figures as Pope Paul VI, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, Austrian Chancellor Josef Klaus and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

Cutting in on the work schedule of key delegates were Security Council debates on the strife in Cyprus, the independence declaration of Rhodesia's white minority government, the India-Pakistan conflict and the situation in Portugal's African territories.

The assembly session saw Red China's boosters make the strongest showing yet in their 15-year struggle to capture the Chinese seat for Peking.

It also saw the big Asian-African group maneuver itself into the power role it has been seeking since 1955, when new Asian and African states began flocking into the organization.

Brushing aside U.S. objections, the Asian-African Monday night rammed through the 117-nation assembly a proposal which in effect junked the long-standing rule that important issues require a two-thirds ma-

Dominican Strike Threat Seems to Fade

Workers Begin to Drift Back to Jobs; Banks Are Reopened

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The threat of a general strike to force out Dominican military leaders appeared fading today as workers began drifting back to their jobs.

Labor leaders Monday night urged workers to return while President Hector Garcia-Godoy completes an investigation of the battle of Santiago Sunday between the army and rebels.

The labor leaders had promised Garcia-Godoy they would abide by his request not to launch a general strike in support of the rebels until a special commission completes an investigation of the Santiago fighting.

Banks and many private firms that were shut down Monday reopened.

Snipers fired at U.S. and Brazilian troops of the Inter-American Peace Force Monday, but a U.S. spokesman said no American soldiers were hit.

The Brazilian and U.S. troops were reinforced in the heart of the city Sunday after the battle in Santiago, 120 miles away. The peace force dispersed some of the bands of youths trying to stir up demonstrations in the business district Monday, and the reinforcements were later withdrawn, leaving one U.S. and one Brazilian company in the downtown section.

The strike appeared aimed at forcing out military chiefs blamed by labor leaders for the bloody outbreak in Santiago Sunday.

Erode World Support

'Peace Feelers' Part of Reds Anti-U. S. Policy Campaign

Recent Vietnamese Communist propaganda suggests the possibility that "peace feelers" are part of a psychological campaign to erode American and world public support of U.S. policy, in preparation for an upsurge of political warfare in South Viet Nam.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Radio couples a "we-can't-lose" propaganda campaign in South Viet Nam with highly exaggerated descriptions of various protest demonstrations around the world, and particularly in the United States.

In America, these broadcasts say, protests have risen to unprecedented intensity and have become "the most violent struggle in U.S. history," which has left the Johnson administration "extremely embarrassed and fearful."

Real Intention

Hints from North Viet Nam thus may have little to do with any real intention to negotiate on terms acceptable to the United States. Rather these "feelers" may be intended to add to the Johnson administration's troubles by placing it in the position of rejecting peace overtures.

This hypothesis becomes credible against the background of recent Viet Cong propaganda. This indicates Communist agents now can be expected to mount strong efforts to bring the war to the cities of South Viet Nam by means of political attack.

This would have a double purpose: first, to attack the Viet Cong's enemy from the rear and to make the U.S. presence politically untenable, and second, to persuade public opinion in America and elsewhere that the anti-Communist war effort has little South Vietnamese support.

Jacob Sculewski Death Leaves Family Alone

5 Seymour Children Facing Future Without Parents, Close Relatives

SEYMOUR — When Jacob Sculewski, 54, left his family at Thanksgiving and went into a Green Bay hospital for the final time, his instructions to his eldest son, Lynn, 17, were that he was to head the family and the family must stay together.

Today Lynn plans to carry out that instruction even though his father, suffering a multiple of incurable diseases, died Monday at the hospital shortly after viewing his family for the last time.

In the well-maintained farm home at route 1, Seymour, Lynn and his sisters, Janet, 15, Lois, 13, and the twins, Arlene and Marlene, 10, prepare to face a bleak future still determined that the family will stay together.

Quit School

Lynn, a quiet boy, described by some as a "bright and clever boy," dropped from high school to devote full time to running

the house, the family and the farm. His four sisters, attend school each day and will do so until further plans are made.

The children have been motherless since 1958 when Mrs. Sculewski died while the twin girls were yet babies. At the time, the family lived in Appleton where the father worked as a lens grinder for an optical firm.

When ill health forced him to leave Appleton, he bought the farm where he raised his children until ill health forced him to leave that responsibility to his eldest son.

Mrs. Edward Peotter, wife of the Town of Osborn chairman, said help in the form of clothing, food and some money have been raised for the family since last weekend when newspaper stories told of the family's plight. She said, however, that more help is needed.

Mrs. Peotter said efforts are being made to carry out the father's wishes and keep the family together. She and her husband will confer with an attorney to settle legal questions which will guide the family's future.

No Relatives

There are no close relatives in the Fox River Valley to which the family can turn, Mrs. Peotter said. A family friend in Appleton has helped periodically, she said and an aunt in Milwaukee has been informed of the father's death.

Mrs. Peotter said Lynn has maintained that the family "is doing well" under the circumstances. She said he has asked for little or no help from outsiders.

Asks for Nothing

"The boy has been brought up not to ask for something from others," she said. She said that

Perch-Eye View of Winter

It's the Season of Predictions

By JERRY BUCK
Associated Press Writer

If you want to know what winter holds—it comes tonight—just ask a caterpillar or a perch, look at the moon or consult the almanac. You'll get a different answer every time.

If caterpillars speak your language, it'll be a run-of-the-mill winter. The perches say it will be mild at first—so does the moon, although the rockets kind of get in the way.

But the fog-counters, volcano-readers and the almanacs predict a bitter time of it with more than enough now to keep even

Official Time

In Miami, at resorts of a different sort, vacationers are hoping to get brown under the sun—while their winterbound neighbors turn green with envy and blue from the cold.

Winter comes officially at 8:41 p.m. (EST) today, hours after darkness will have fallen on the day of the year with the least amount of daylight. If it's any compensation, Venus will attain her greatest brilliance.

Ski lodges are going great in Colorado, New Mexico, upper New England and California—where some winters the resorts never open for lack of snow. In other places, the bare ground isn't luring many skiers.

In the weather predicting business there are as many ways of arriving at the wrong conclusion as there are snowflakes in a blizzard.

Badgers a 74-69 command before Montana closed in. Roberts Won It

"Roberts really won this one for us," said Wisconsin Coach John Erickson. "He made one important free throw that gave us a five-point spread and then came through with the long pass. You can't beat experience, and he's a senior."

Gustafson led the scoring with 24 points, sinking 11 of 16 tries from the floor.

The Badgers, as a team, shot 48.5 per cent to offset slipshod ballhandling that allowed Montana 13 more field goal attempts and heavy-handed defensive play that provided the Grizzlies with a 14-point advantage at the free throw line.

The Badgers had 21 ball turnovers without getting a shot off. Three of the errors were committed by Dennis Sweeney who threw away passes while Wisconsin was trying to protect a 73-63 lead with 2:32 left.

The stall may have failed because of inexperience. "This was our first chance this season to try and hold a lead at the end," said Erickson. "We've been fighting to catch up in almost every game."

Montana, with a 2-4 record now to Wisconsin's 2-5, ran off six points at the start of the game before the Badgers could get their first basket on a jump shot by Ken Barnes with 2:14 minutes gone. Wisconsin recovered to surge to a 39-32 halftime lead, but Montana quickly trimmed it to 41-39 after the intermission.

Cans Five of Six

Gustafson canned five of the Badgers' next six field goals as Wisconsin spurred ahead 54-44. The 10-point lead dwindled to 61-58 before reserve pivotman Tom Schoeneck hit two hook shots and Sweeney added a fast break basket.

Fouling hurt the Badgers again as Montana capitalized on three free throws to whittle away the 74-69 lead before Roberts' pass to Gustafson. Better accuracy at the foul line by the Grizzlies, who hit 24 tosses, might have given them the game despite an 18-point deficit from the floor.

The Grizzlies managed to net only a poor 29.6 per cent of their floor shots and only an adequate 70.6 per cent of their free throws.

Gustafson was backed by Barnes with 14 points and Mark Zubur with 12 while sophomore standout Joe Franklin was limited to a lone field goal. The balanced Montana attack had eight players spread between 7 and 11 points.

Wisconsin will invade Cincinnati Wednesday night and Erickson indicated the Badgers may need more offensive potency than displayed against Montana. But he added, "It's good to win and it's particularly satisfying after you've lost four in a row."

Pressure on Boyd

"I guess the pressure will be on Bobby Boyd," Matte said. "He'll have to learn what to do in case I get hurt."

Boyd, like Matte, was a quarterback in college — Boyd at Oklahoma and Matte at Ohio State. Boyd, a defensive half-back, has never played the position in the NFL and Matte didn't until Dec. 12 when substitute Gary Cuozzo followed No. 1 quarterback John Unitas to the sidelines with an injury which required surgery.

Matte, an NFL halfback for five seasons, used his running ability to advantage against the Rams and was the game's leading ground gainer with 99 yards rushing.

Brown, acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh last week, tossed one touchdown pass against the Rams while Halfner warmed the bench after being activated from the Colts' taxi squad.

Since they were not on the Baltimore roster for the final two regular season games, Brown and Halfner were not eligible for the playoff. Colts' President Carroll Rosenbloom tried unsuccessfully to have the league rule waived.

No Indication

There was no indication who opposed Baltimore's request, but Matte said he would have objected, too, if he had been voting for either Cleveland or Green Bay.

"I didn't think the request would go through," he said. "I guess they would rather play against somebody like me."

With another week of practice to sharpen his timing and accuracy, Matte figures to pass more than the two aerials he tried last Saturday.

Shula probably will call the plays from the sidelines, and if Matte gets in a jam he can look at the crib note on his wrist.

"If I'm grasping for something to do, I can take a peek," Matte said. "Even if the Packers see the list, it won't help them. They already know our plays. . . but they still have to guess which one is coming next."

Mays to Rest After Collapse

Nervousness and Exhaustion Cited By Physician

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Willie Mays has quit promoting the Job Corps for the sake of his baseball career. His third collapse in three years forced the decision.

Willie explained: "The doctor here said I was a little nervous from running around all over the country."

Mays, 34, highest-paid player in baseball ($105,000) and the National League's Most Valuable Player, fell in a faint Saturday while promoting the Job Corps at a downtown theater.

Backstage hands ran to help him. They sat him in a chair. And somebody called a police ambulance. But Mays walked from the theater and rode in a police car to the Salt Lake City home of Herman Franks, manager of the San Francisco Giants.

"Just Blacked Out"

"I guess he just blacked out," said Franks. "All the heat and the kids."

"Don't worry about him," Franks said, and added that his star center fielder would be in "good shape" by spring.

"I'm fine," said Willie.

"The doctor said I should get lots of rest. He gave me a couple of shots and some pills and said in a couple of days I should be back to feeling really good." Willie collapsed in 1962 sitting in a dugout, and doctors blamed it on indigestion. Then he fell to one knee because of dizziness at Candlestick Park in 1963. Doctors blamed exhaustion.

Dr. Robert Dahrymple, who examined him Saturday, said exhaustion was the culprit again.

of Omro, Kimberly, Oshkosh Lourdes, and Fond du Lac Springs. Three of the four losses have been by two or three points.

In addition to its wins over Milwaukee Lutheran and University School, FVL trounced Lakeside Lutheran. The two losses were at the hands of Concordia and Wisconsin Lutheran by margins of four and six points.

Although the FVL record looks better on paper, St. John has been averaging 64.7 points a game to the Foxes' 60.6. However, St. John has been allowing an average of 73.1 a game, while FVL has been holding its opponents to 54.2 a tilt.

Coach Bill Fitzpatrick, of the Dutchmen, will probably go with his regular starting lineup of Gary Romanesko and Tim Harlies at guards, Lloyd Hackel, 6-2, at center and Ed Schuler, 5-10 and Jerry Janssen, 6-0, at forwards. Dave Hammen and Tom Felzer are slated to see early reserve action for the Chuturs.

The Gerhard Kaniess-coached Foxes will be going with the same lineup that has proved successful so far. It will include Mark Dahlke, 6-1 senior; Tom Ehlke, 6-2 senior, Dave Tiedt, 6-1 junior; Alan Olson, 6-1 senior, and Dennis Neumann, 6-2 senior, or Howie North, a 5-7 junior.

Fox Lutheran JVs Suffer 47-31 Loss

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School junior varsity suffered its second Midwest Prep Conference basketball defeat in four starts Saturday night, as it bowed to Wisconsin Lutheran, 47-31.

FVL jumped off to an early lead and kept it through the first quarter, leading, 13-8, at the end of the period. In the second quarter Wisconsin Lutheran went ahead, 25-15, a lead from which the Junior Foxes never recovered.

Near My Home

"I chose the Packers," Grabowski explained, "because I live in Chicago and I wanted to play somewhere near my home."

"Green Bay's going to win the championship this season and a number of championships in the years to come. I want to be on a championship team and I want to play for the finest coach in the world, Vince Lombardi."

Lombardi said, "Grabowski is bigger than (Jim) Taylor. He weighs around 215 now and should go up to 225. He's got all his growing days ahead of him."

"I consider it an honor to compete for a job against such great runners as Taylor and Paul Hornung," said Grabowski. "I'll probably learn a lot from them. I hope to get in and play a little bit next season."

Lombardi said, "Running backs don't take time to make adjustments to pro ball. A good running back can make a pro club during his first year."

Important Step

"This was the most important step in my life. I wanted to weigh both proposals and make sure I made the right choice. Now, I'm sure I did," said Grabowski.

Grabowski recently discussed his pro future with his former teammate at Illinois, Dick Butkus, now a Chicago Bears linebacker.

"I talked to Dick about two weeks ago," said Grabowski. "We had lunch together. He told me all about pro ball. But he never gave me any advice about which league to sign with."

Jordan Says Tom Matte Is Dangerous QB

Colts at Baltimore in a showdown for first place two weeks ago.

Coach Vince Lombardi said then the Packers were at their psychological peak and there may be a question whether the team can reach the same readiness.

"At this stage it's not the physical things, but mostly mental," said Jordan, a 250-pound, nine-year veteran from the University of Virginia.

"We might have been a little too high last Sunday in San Francisco," he added. "Everything we did, it seemed nothing clicked. We may have been trying too hard."

Converted Running Back

With Matte, a converted running back who has thrown only sparingly, at the reins of the Colts, Jordan said the Packers defense will probably concentrate on a containment policy, such as used against Minnesota's scrambling quarterback, Fran Tarkenton.

The San Francisco tie left the Packers with a 10-3-1 record identical to that of Baltimore. Despite their two victories over the Colts, the Packers lost during the season to Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles.

"It looks like everyone is trying to give us the championship, but we keep throwing it away," Jordan said.

He saw one advantage in the playoff to determine which team will be host to Eastern Conference titlist Cleveland in the NFL championship game Jan. 2.

"This playoff will help whoever wins, Green Bay or Baltimore. A week layoff. I think, hurts you. You get out of the habit of hitting."

By John Behnke

One of the best reasons to encourage youngsters to participate in sports came to our attention recently. . . . It's one of the finest statements we ever saw, and we wanted to pass it along to you. . . . This statement was credited to Mickey Mantle, who said: "A team is where a boy can prove his courage, on his own, on what he can do himself, or on what he can contribute to the team's good. A gang is where a coward goes to hide." . . . The difference between a team and a gang was never explained better than that.

What was the longest fight on record? . . . Most boxing records show that the longest glove fight ever was between Andy Bowen and Jack Burke in New Orleans in 1893. . . . Their bout lasted 110 rounds, or 7 hours and 19 minutes! . . . It ended as a draw when neither man could continue.

Did you know that a touchdown in football was not always worth six points? . . . Back at the turn of the century, a TD counted for only five. . . . Touchdowns weren't worth six points till 1912.

We now stock the Arrow Vivilla Shirts in plain colors and plaids.

Board Elected For Calumet Hospital Unit

Association Told Of Profit Made at Chilton Facility

CHILTON — Armand Schwalenberg, Potter, was elected to the Calumet County Hospital Association board to replace Denton Aebischer, Chilton, at last week's annual meeting.

Board members re-elected were Mrs. Anthony Nisler, New Holstein; Martin Bankert, Chilton; Melvin Koch, Brillion, and Gilbert Pethan, Hilbert.

Director Fred Eggers told association members the hospital will apply for accreditation again, which has been denied in the past.

Eggers reported that the hospital realized a two per cent profit compared with a loss of six per cent last year. He said the profits made on out-patients made up for the loss of 45 cents per day for in-patients.

Future plans outlined by Gordon Aebischer, board president, included furnishing space for a new x-ray machine purchased for more than $7,000 and establishing a citizen's committee to attempt to get more doctors to come to the area.

It was reported the cost of bedroom rates to the patients was approximately $1 less per day than in surrounding communities.

The commission will investigate the application without a public hearing, according to John F. Goetz, acting commission secretary.

Two Crashes At Waupaca

Green Bay Youth Injured When Car Plunges Off Road

WAUPACA — Two motorists escaped serious injuries in separate one-car accidents reported Saturday and Monday.

Duane M. Anderson, 16, Green Bay, escaped with only minor bruises Monday, when he lost control of the car he was driving east on State 54 near the State 22 intersection south of Manawa and went down a steep embankment. The mishap occurred at 1:30 p.m.

Anderson told County Traffic Patrol Capt. John Penney that he had just rounded a slight curve when the car skidded on the wet highway. The car skidded across the road and into a field for more than 175 feet before plunging down the embankment where it hit a tree.

Thomas P. Hartly, 18, Clintonville, escaped injury, at 11:50 a.m. Saturday, when he lost control of his small foreign car, six miles east of Clintonville on State 156 and the vehicle overturned.

Hartly, told a Waupaca County Traffic patrolman he was traveling west when a gust of wind caused him to lose control of the car which first went onto the right shoulder before crossing the roadway and overturning in the left ditch.

"We would like our customers and friends to know that our operations are profitable and that we are continuing in business," said William Shockley of Appleton, general manager of the Tomahawk Power and Pulp Co.

Tomahawk Power and Pulp Co. operates a groundwood pulp mill at Tomahawk and has no connection with the firm that ended operations two weeks ago.

D. C. Murchison of Elizabeth, N. J., is president of the firm. The company was sold to the present owners three years ago by Kenneth S. Dickinson.

Council May Hire Engineer For Waupaca

Iver Oerter Is Lone Candidate For New City Post

WAUPACA — Final action in hiring a full-time city engineer is expected to be taken by the city council when it meets in regular session tonight.

For several years, Stevens Point engineer, Hiram Krebs, has been hired on a percentage basis, with the engineer receiving six per cent of the project contract.

Mayor Lloyd Matheson has said the hiring of a full-time engineer will be an economic move because of the number of city projects each year.

Only Applicant

Iven Oerter, 540 Park St., an engineer who was formerly a partner in the Glass and Donaldson Engineering firm, is expected to be officially hired by the city at tonight's meeting, since he is the only applicant for the post.

The position is a new one for the city and Oerter will not be replacing any other city employee or official.

Mrs. Harriet Ward, city clerk, will present a petition to the council asking that the location of a new city dump be left up to the voters at a referendum.

The petition has been filed with Mrs. Ward by Edsall Hinton and has enough signatures to warrant a referendum.

Files Changed List

Several names were cut from the first petition filed by Hinton, who then filed an amended list with 283 qualified signers, the number required.

The petition asks that the new dump not be established on a new site which has been purchased by the city. The site is on the northern edge of the city.

Nearby landowners are raising the strongest objections to the relocation of the dump.

Driver Must Post Bonds Totaling $650

A total of $650 in bonds was ordered this morning for Daniel R. Wegner, 24, 5207 S. 27th St., Milwaukee, who pleaded innocent to three traffic charges that followed a high speed chase Saturday night by a state highway patrolman.

The man was charged with speeding 120 miles an hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone, fleeing from a traffic officer using a marked car and operating a motor vehicle after revocation of driver's license.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered bond of $150 on the speeding charge and $250 each on the other two counts. Wegner had not posted bond last Monday morning. Trial was set for April 6.

The state patrolman said Wegner's car was chased from County Trunk U to County Trunk N on U. S. 41 shortly after 9 p.m. Saturday.

Large Initiates Query On Eligibility to Serve

Senator Voted on Pay Raise for County Judges; Now Seeks Outagamie Post

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — State Sen. Gerald Lorge of Bear Creek Monday told reporters that he has asked the Legislative Reference Library to study historical precedents governing his eligibility for the office of Outagamie County judge. Lorge announced his candidacy last week for the election next April.

"I am confident that I am eligible to serve in that capacity," Lorge said. "It is just a matter of whether I can serve at the new, higher salary that the judge will receive. If I cannot, I will remain a candidate and serve at the lower salary."

Raise in Pay

The legislature this session raised the pay of county judges to $17,500, an increase of $4,000 annually. Lorge, who says he thinks he voted against that bill, commented on a state constitutional provision that may prevent his serving as a judge or at the higher salary.

Article IV, section 12 of the state constitution states: "No member of the legislature shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office in the state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during the term for which he was elected."

Lorge says that his preliminary checks with the Legislative Library indicate that the office of county judge may not in Wisconsin be considered a "civil office," and that at least two precedents for his action exist.

He recalled the appointments of two former State Senators, William R. Moser of Milwaukee and Robert W. Dean of Wausau, who were named to judgeships by Governors Gaylord Nelson and John Reynolds, respectively.

Lorge also said that if necessary he will seek an attorney's opinion as to his eligibility to run and serve as county judge if elected.

The post now is held by Judge Urban Van Susteren who was appointed to fill out a term earlier this year by Gov. Warren P. Knowles. Judge Van Susteren has taken out nomination papers for the post.

Northbound departures from O'Hare had three flight time changes. Flight 2 will leave at O'Hare at 10:15 a.m., instead of at 8:45 a.m.; Flight 6 will leave at 4:40 p.m., instead of 4:55; and Flight 8 will leave at 8:20 p.m., instead of 8:30. The other northbound flight departure is at 1:35 p.m.

Chilton Asks PSC to Approve Rail Signal

Request for Crossing
At Breed Street
Arose From Mishap

CHILTON — A plea by city officials for a flashing signal at the Breed Street railroad crossing was presented Friday to a three-man Wisconsin Public Service Commission committee headed by James Wolter, Madison, commission examiner.

A decision is expected in about 30 days.

The request arose after a Chilton woman was seriously injured Sept. 27 when a train hit her car. There have been several accidents at the crossing.

Police Chief Daniel Albeyll presented evidence showing that a 10-foot hill obstructs vision of motorists heading west until they are too close to the crossing for safety.

Visual Observations
Motorists heading east have visual difficulty because of buildings and trees, Albeyll said.

Except for the two daily passenger trains, train times vary so that motorists cannot know when a train may be expected.

The road is heavily traveled at various times during the day because of the large number of persons employed at the Chilton Metal Products Co.

A Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railway Co. official estimated cost of installing a flashing signal at nearly $12,000. Annual maintenance costs were estimated at between $250 to $300.

Calumet Told to Put Special Classes in Existing Schools

Special, Regular Courses Should Share Building

CHILTON — Calumet County administrators have been advised to house special education classes in the same building with regular classes.

The proposal came from Victor Contrucci of the State Department of Education, Division for Handicapped Children.

Discontinue Program
Contrucci spoke at a recent meeting of county administrators, who are facing the question of what will be done next year when the county board of supervisors no longer controls the program.

County board members voted last April to discontinue support of the program, begun 12 years ago, with termination effective June, 1966.

According to Contrucci, the advantage of having special and regular classes in the same building is that the same facilities can be used and teachers can be available for the special subjects.

He said that children in special classes need some association with normal children and would have that advantage if their classes were part of an established school.

Manitowoc Woman
The classes are now under the supervision of Miss Hilda Cavanaugh, Manitowoc.

Norman Larson, Cooperative Educational Service Agency 10 coordinator, asked that a decision be reached soon to facilitate planning for teachers now under contract in addition to any other necessary changes.

Another meeting was scheduled for Jan. 5 here, when it is expected that a final decision will be reached.

Opening at Chilton

CHILTON — The New Hope Center for mentally retarded has issued a plea for contributions of various items needed to equip the center when it opens early next year.

Eleven pre-schoolers and post-high schoolers have been interviewed for possible enrollment, according to Charles Nickolia, secretary of the center's service board. Recent estimates range to more than 200 people in need of sheltered workshop or pre-school help. Proper help can convert a completely dependent, helpless charge into a self-sustaining wage earner and useful citizen, Nickolia said.

The center is in the Toth Nursing Home. The board of directors and administrator are completing plans of training, work experiences and social contacts to provide the necessary stimulus and encouragement to reach the desired goals.

Election Year Coming Up

Absence of Peace Talks Drawback for Johnson

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has a number of reasons, besides what it would mean in lives saved, for working out an agreement with North Viet Nam to talk about a peace settlement.
No president in this century matched him in the amount of important legislation he got through Congress in this one year. But he probably faces a stormy time with Congress next year if the war continues.
In addition, 1966 is a congressional election year when the Republicans will try to make issues of anything they can latch onto. The war would be No. 1.
Since Johnson is an active, driving, imaginative man, and a

Kimberly Sets Holiday Hours For Departments

KIMBERLY — Special hours will be in effect at various village offices and a change will be made in glass pick-up schedule due to the Christmas holidays.
The city clerk's office will be closed all day Friday and street crews will not work on that day. The regular Friday glass pickup on Roger Street west to the village limits and on the east side of S. Main Street east to S. Pine Street will be Dec. 31.
The public library will be open from 10 a.m. to noon Friday, closed the next two days and open from 10 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. Dec. 27. From Dec. 28 through 31 the library hours will be 10 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 5 p.m. Jan. 1 and 2.

Cloverdale Plat Folks Hold Christmas Party

LITTLE CHUTE — The first annual Cloverdale Plat Christmas party for youngsters was held Sunday night with 50 children and 37 adults participating.
A Christmas tree was lighted and Santa distributed bags of candy and a present to each youngster. The gift is to be placed under the family tree at home. Christmas carols were sung and hot coffee served. The plat is located north of County Trunk OO and west of County Trunk N, the newest residential area in the village.

very dramatic one, it would not be surprising if sometime fairly soon he announced some kind of progress toward talks with the North Vietnamese.

Sensational Move
Such an announcement, if made before Christmas, would be doubly sensational, although there has been no indication anything of the kind is in store.

But Johnson never rests when caught in a dilemma and he has never been caught in one like this.

So it can be assumed he has been working hard while bombing North Viet Nam to make his efforts more convincing, at establishing contact direct or otherwise with North Viet Nam's president, Ho Chi Minh.

Because Johnson is a vigorous man who tries to anticipate and shape events himself, instead of negatively letting chance control the future, what happened recently seems a little odd.

Italian Professors
In the past few weeks two Italian professors who visited North Viet Nam returned with word of a peace feeler after talking with Ho Chi Minh. The word got to Johnson in a roundabout way. The whole thing got mixed up.

The public got its first news of this through a story leaked to a newspaper, which was before the State Department acknowledged anything about the professors' efforts.

Its response was far from hearty. It was full of reservations. As the story developed U.S. planes bombed a power plant in North Viet Nam near Haiphong. The Hanoi radio called the whole business "pure fabrication."

Johnsonian Nudge
This seemed to end it. But the bombing of the power plant could be taken as a Johnsonian nudge to the Communists that worse was to come unless they began to show some willingness to discuss peace.

This hasn't visibly impressed them yet. But Johnson, besides his obligation as President to do his utmost to obtain peace, has an inner drive to succeed.

He knows it would be considered a tremendous achievement, here and abroad, if he could get peace talks going.

And, if there was a cease-fire or just peace talks, much of the steam would be taken out of the Republicans and Johnson, with renewed prestige, could look forward to a happier congressional year than otherwise looks likely.

Charles Percy May be Victim In Political Trap

Illinois Republican
Being Maneuvered
Out of State Affairs

BY ROWLAND EVANS and
ROBERT NOVAK

CHICAGO — Eyes wide open, Charles M. Percy has walked into a fiendishly clever trap prepared by this arch-enemy: the Bourbons of Illinois.

We reported last May that the state party's Goldwater-oriented leaders, like the Bourbon kings of France, remember everything and learn nothing. Although Percy ran an eye-popping ping 600,000 votes ahead of Barry Goldwater in his unsuccessful race for Governor, the party regulars still view Bell and Howell's one-time boy wonder of the camera business as the devil incarnate. The reason: Percy's progressive views.

It is then strange that the Bourbons have been pleading with him to run for the senate in 1966 against three-term Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas. And it is stranger still that, by the time these words appear in print, Percy will have announced his senate candidacy — following the special pleading of foes and against the counsel of friends.

The explanation is found in the political trap Percy perceived but could not avoid. It is a story of a political party more interested in ideological purity than victory.

Shortly after losing last November, Percy sent up signals that he was still concentrating on state affairs. He organized his New Illinois Committee to study state issues. Private polls revealed the able, highly respected Percy would win handily today against colorless Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner (who probably would have lost to Percy in 1964 had Goldwater not headed the Republican ticket.) In short, Percy was dreaming of the governor's mansion in 1966.

But to the Bourbons, Percy in Springfield would be worse than any Democrat. As governor, he would mold the state party in a more progressive image, perhaps taking revenge on downstate county chairmen who knifed him during the 1964 campaign. Nor could they beat Percy, now one of the best known figures in Illinois, in the primary election.

What to do with Percy? Why, maneuver him into a senate race against Douglas, the most formidable vote-getter in Illinois history.

Should Percy lose to Douglas, that would be the end of Percy. Should Percy win, he would go to Washington — too busy with national affairs to remake the Illinois Republican party. It was heads-I-win, tails-you-lose for the Bourbons.

Furthermore, there was an implicit threat. Percy could have the senate nomination for the asking. But if he held off in 1966 to run for governor in 1966, the Bourbons would fight him to the death. Their probable candidate: John Henry Aikens, a safely conservative Peoria millionaire who ran for lieutenant governor last year.

Humphrey to Attend Marcos Inauguration

Moreover, it was drummed home to Percy that if he didn't run for senator, he'd spend the next two years explaining why he was "afraid" to do his "duty."

Simultaneously, the right wing of the Illinois party whipped up a Percy-for-Senator campaign. Consider Charles Barr, a Chicago oil company executive and a most skillful political tactician. Barr, a national founder of the Goldwater-for-President movement, led the fight to deny Percy the governor's nomination in 1964. Now he suddenly became a Percy man — Percy for senator, that is.

Told to Wait
Pulling the other way were some of Percy's closest advisers. Harry G. (Skinny) Taylor of Decatur, one of the few county chairmen in Percy's corner, told him to wait until 1968. So did key staffers from his 1954 campaign.

But the longer Percy delayed his decision, the harder it became to avoid the trap. By mid-November, his freedom of choice had dwindled away. He had been mentioned so often for the Senate without a Percy disclaimer that he could scarcely not run without being accused of running away from Douglas.

Although private polls show Percy surprisingly strong against Douglas in Cook County (Chicago), it will be a minor miracle if he wins. It will be hard to find an issue against Douglas aside from the senator's age (73)—and Percy, 45, insists he won't bring that up. Only a combination of luck means lacks) can avoid catastrophe. And if catastrophe does come, there won't be tears from the Bourbons.

College Students Make Christmas Gifts For Poor Children

By BOB COOPER
PIPPA PASSES, Ky. (AP) —
A Christmas custom, planted in this tiny community nearly 50 years ago, will bloom again this year in the smiles of 20,000 pov-erly-stricken children.

Since last summer, students at Alice Lloyd College have been preparing small Christmas gifts for elementary school children in one-room schools of the eastern Kentucky mountains.

For many of the children, it is all there is to Christmas.

"For eight years—all through grade school—I received gifts from the project," a mountain girl, now a student at the school here, said.

"Some of those years, my Daddy had no work. He's a miner. They were hard times.
Christmas pretties were about all we got."

Founded School
Alice Lloyd started a Christmas giving program three years after she arrived in 1916 from Boston. She also founded the school that was to become a junior college bearing her name.

Mrs. Lloyd, who came to the hill country for a quiet place to write and stayed to become an angel to the needy, started her project with Christmas parties for local residents on the school's green.

"We took flour sacks and put presents in them for the whole family—maybe a coat for the man of the house, an apron or a dress for the mother and toys for the children," Miss June Buchanan recalls.

Provide Santa
Miss Buchanan, who came
week's vacation and never left, said Dan Martin became the program's first Santa Claus in 1923.

"But the program got so big that a few years later we stopped having a yearly party and started giving gifts at the schools."

"Why, people had started coming from miles away—on foot and on horseback—and there were nearly 1,500 of them at one time," she said.

Mrs. Lloyd continued personal supervision of the Christmas project until her death several years ago. Now, Mrs. William Hays, wife of the school's president, is in charge.

Mrs. Lloyd sent presents to all mountain schools, but now they go only to one-room schools in the eastern Kentucky area.

"That way, we are pretty sure all of the children who receive the gifts need them," Mrs. Hays said.

The gifts are donated by friends of the college who have heard of the project and want to help.

up within 10 minutes by an amphibious rescue plane. He suffered only superficial injuries.
Overhead a flight of U.S. planes giving protective cover spotted two MIG 17s approaching from Haiphong but they spun off at high speed and headed toward Communist China.
The four construction men were seized by the Viet Cong Monday afternoon near a rock quarry where they worked for a major military contractor. They had gone to the quarry without a military escort.
Surprised Reds
A platoon of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division surprised the Communists as they marched the captives with hands tied behind their backs in the dark. When the Americans opened fire, the captives dropped into a ditch near Otto Shulton, 58, a Dutch citizen living in South Burnaby, B.C., Canada, was slain by his Viet Cong guard.
Those rescued were Edwin D. Jones, 48, of El Centro, Calif.; Henry Hudson, 52, of Menlo Park, Calif.; and Hudson's Vietnamese chauffeur, Van Xuong. All are employed by R.M.K. International, a combine of five U.S. firms that does most of the big American military construction work in South Viet Nam.
Both Jones, the quarry superintendent, and Hudson, a construction executive, said the Viet Cong treated them well and even gave them beer on a fast march apparently toward Zone D, the Communist jungle retreat.

Suddenly Hit
About midnight, the group was suddenly fired on when it ran into the platoon commanded by Lt. George Steinberg, 24, of Milwaukee, Wis. Steinberg said he and his men opened up when they spotted about 25 Viet Cong.
A Viet Cong jumped on top of Jones in the ditch in an effort to escape the machine-gun fire. When the Americans directed grenade launchers at the Viet Cong, they fled, leaving the captives behind.
One of the construction workers shouted: "Don't fire. There are Americans here."
"Who are you kidding?" Steinberg replied, recalling past attempts by English-speaking Viet Cong to lure U.S. troops into traps.

The construction workers persisted in their pleas. The GIs eventually satisfied themselves after the Americans gave details about life in the United States.
Body Riddled
Shulton's body was found riddled. He had been the quarry manager. Neither Hudson nor Jones saw him shot but said they were convinced his guard opened up with a grease gun, a type of submachine gun, as soon as the Americans began firing.
Many bloody trails were found in the area but no Viet Cong bodies.

In Washington, it was disclosed that the U.S. Command in Viet Nam had been authorized to allow troops operating near the Cambodian and Laotian borders to return fire from Communists across the ill-defined frontiers.
Although U.S. military officials have repeatedly contended the Communists use Cambodia as a sanctuary to launch attacks on South Viet Nam, the State Department and the Pentagon have refused to say whether American forces had been given broader latitude in fights along the borders.

Broke Relations
Cambodia's chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, broke diplomatic relations with the United States last May, charging South Vietnamese forces had raided Cambodian border towns in pursuit of the Viet Cong. He has repeatedly denied that Cambodia was letting the Communists use its territory for bases or sanctuary.
In a dispatch from Saigon, the New York Times quoted authoritative sources as saying U.S. field commanders had been authorized not only to call for artillery barrages and tactical air strikes across the border if necessary but also to send troops into Cambodia after a retreating enemy force still locked in combat.

However, sources in Washington told AP military writer Fred S. Hoffman they doubted the new authority to U.S. forces included crossing into neutralist territory to fight.
'Good King Wenceslas' Should Make Lively Twist
LONDON (AP) — Take a recording of "Good King Wenceslas" made at 33 1/3 revolutions per minute, play it at 78 rpm's and enjoy a good twist.
That's just about the way it should sound, according to Miss Elizabeth Poston, a British composer and expert on medieval music.
Carols, according to Miss Poston, were originally intended for dancing. They were folk songs and not necessarily religious.
The medieval clergy decided that dancing in church would not do. So carols went underground. They survived precariously for hundreds of years in remote villages.

Then under Victorian revivalists, carols came back — with a whimper. They took the tunes, wrote their own words and loaded down the result with church harmonies.
This is what happened to "Wenceslas." The tune, once a splendidly gay and virile dance measure, dates from the 13th century, Miss Poston says.
The words were written in 1853 by Dr. John Mason Neale. Miss Poston, in a foreword to the "Penguin Book of Christmas Carols," describes his grafting operation as "the dreariest of travesties."

'Peace Feelers' Part of Reds Anti-U. S. Policy Campaign

level now, concentrating on exploiting every evidence of public discontent. The broadcasts call for agitation for strikes on wages, cost of living, housing and other issues, and a movement "particularly to oppose conscription by every means possible, such as holding discussions among youths and high school and college students."
They add: "Although the political struggle movement has developed and achieved a number of successes, compared to the armed struggle movement it has not yet developed proportionally. If there is close coordination between military victories and the political and military has not yet developed proportionally."
Many Agents
The Viet Cong has many agents in South Viet Nam's cities. These now presumably are under orders to join with and encourage every discontented element.
Exploiting the conscription issue would not be difficult. The Saigon regime already has trouble with it. Over the past two years there have been about 160,000 desertions from the ranks of the new recruits, although desertion in Viet Nam cannot be viewed in the same light as desertion in a Western sense. In many cases the recruits just wander off to visit their families. Some straggle back and are forgiven.

The Liberation Front, however, now is advising young men who don't want to go to war to arm themselves and shoot it out with those who try to draft them.
All in all, a picture of Communist strategy emerges aimed at making things hot for the Saigon regime and the Americans in Viet Nam while at the same time attempting to create fear, confusion and discord in the United States.

Rights Demonstrator Found Guilty by Jury In Milwaukee, Fined

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A civil rights demonstrator, arrested twice in protests at a controversial school construction site, was convicted of disorderly conduct Monday and fined $100.
Dewayne Toliver, 21, was found guilty by a jury that deliberated 20 minutes. The charge stemmed from his second arrest last Tuesday, at which time County Judge Christ T. Seraphim ordered him to post a $150 peace bond subject to forfeit were he arrested another time while the case was pending.

Astronauts Continue Medical Examinations

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. continue today an extensive review with the experts of their 14-day space flight.
The schedule includes more medical checks, a review of experiments conducted and a discussion of the rendezvous with Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford.
Borman and Lovell plan to fly Wednesday to their homes in Houston, Tex., for Christmas with their families.

Ill., reads the peregrinations of perch for his advance tips on the weather. He said a two-inch snowfall hasn't shaken his prediction of a green Christmas for the Midwest. "Whoever heard of a fish fibbing?" he asked.
He makes his predictions according to how deep the perch are running. Kyrilitsis says the fish are getting deeper and deeper and "that means it's going to turn cold about two weeks hence."
Louis Rubin of Richmond, Va., who has gained national fame for his long-range predictions based on volcanic eruptions, says this will be a colder than usual winter.

Five Seymour Children Face Future Alone

Lynn had stated the family was well-supplied with food, but she said she saw little evidence of food in the farm home when she visited there Monday night shortly after the father's death.
Money for the family has come from social security checks, according to Mrs. Marion Freeman, Outagamie County nurse, who has worked with the family since last fall. She said the family has been hesitant about seeking county financial aid "for fear of being split up."
Mrs. Peotter said the farm home is clean and comfortable and the children contribute to the housework and maintenance.
"They have done a good job," Mrs. Peotter said, "but the home has no parents. And they are only children," she said.
The father will be buried Wednesday at St. Joseph Cemetery in Appleton after 10 a.m. service at St. John Catholic Church in Seymour. Friends will call at the Muehl Funeral Home after 7 p.m. Tuesday.

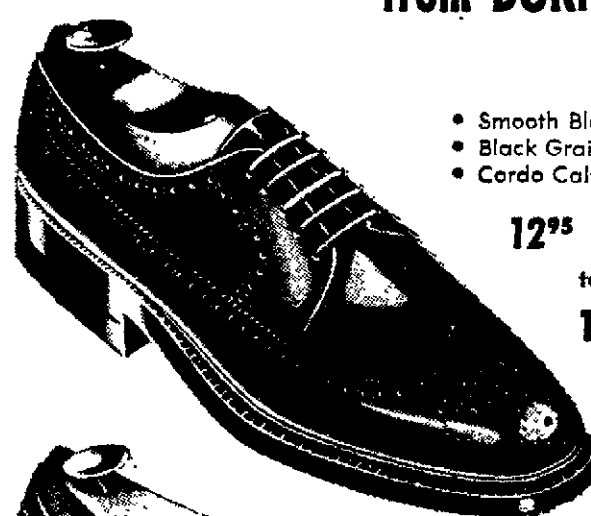

Mary Rae French, 19, was sentenced to prison for four to five years Monday for her part in the murder of Alleen Rowe, 15, Tucson, Ariz. Miss Rowe's body still has not been found. Another teen-ager, John Saunders, will be sentenced Thursday. (AP Wirephoto)

Catches Leg in Moving Elevator

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An elderly woman's leg was caught in the door of an automatic elevator as she entered it Monday and she was carried, screaming with pain, up 12 floors.
Her husband was trapped outside the elevator when it closed and ran up a nearby stairs following his wife's fading screams.
When firemen freed the woman, Ida Herman, 66, she was taken to Graduate Hospital where her condition was later reported as satisfactory.
Her husband, Morris Herman, 72, said they had gone to Central Medical Building to see a physician.
